NORTH ATTLEBORO, May 16.—An electric car on the Interstate line, which left North Attleboro for Attleboro at 7 o'clock last night, met with a serious accident in front of the residence of James Lavery. The rear truck left the rails while the car was running at a fast rate of speed and after going for a distance of 35 feet crashed into a large elm tree by the roadside. The car was badly damaged and a few of the passengers were seriously injured.

The injured are: Conductor Robert Cahoon, hands cut, bruises and shock; Miss E. Warren of Attleboro, badly injured internally, nervous shock, ribs probably broken.

Mrs. James Collins of North Attleboro, sprained wrist, internal injuries, nervous shock.

Edgar Wood of Attleboro, broken ankle, bruises.

Mrs. Edgar Wood of Attleboro, bruises, severe shaking up.

James Dow of Attleboro Falls, back wrenched, bruises.

Hugh McCreton of Attleboro Falls, shaken up and bruised.

Miss Ella Kirby of Attleboro, nervous shock and bruises.

Edward Cobb of North Attleboro, bruised.

Fred Doherty of North Attleboro, back wrenched, bruised.

Frank Rice of North Attleboro, eye cut, bruises about body.

There were others who suffered minor injuries, and nearly all of the 40 passengers were shaken up by the crash.

The car was in charge of Motorman Benjamin Benson and Conductor Robert Cahoon. It left North Attleboro with 40 passengers bound for Attleboro Falls and Attleboro. As the car was passing by the Lavery house a short distance from the center of the town the rear truck suddenly left the rails.

The rear part of the car went along in a diagonal course for about 35 feet when it crashed into a large tree. But for this tree the car would have turned turtle.

The crash broke nearly every window in the car and smashed the rear vestibule to splinters. Passengers were thrown about and a small panic was created.

Conductor Cahoon, who was standing in the rear vestibule, was thrown about 15 feet into the street, but escaped with slight injuries.

THE COUNTY COAL

Ed. Cawley Gets North Middlesex Contract

The county commissioners held their monthly meeting at the court house this morning and apparently the talk of an investigation has not ruffled them in the urbanity in the least.

The first business was the opening of bids for the coal supply at the Lowell jail. Lowell court house and the Middlesex training school at North Chelmsford.

Edward Cawley received the contract, his bid for the entire amount being $175.46. The other bidders were: A. Wilson & Co., $197.20; Horne Coal company, $215.36; D. T. Sullivan, $217.80. The dealers bid on each lot and the commissioners grouped them giving the entire contract to the dealer with the lowest total.

Selectmen King and Duffy of Tewksbury, Town Council Melvin G. Rogers and 24 Messrs. Trull appeared before the commission relative to the widening of Andover street in Tewksbury near the North church. The commissioners granted the petition and will assess the damages later. The town representatives expressed the town's desire to the county to bear some of the expense while that subject has not yet been discussed by the commission, the town authorities believe that the county will help out. In order to widen the road at the point named it will be necessary to move a schoolhouse and tear down a house. The owner of the house wants $3000 for it. The road work will consist of about 700 feet of macadam road, 70 feet wide. The estimated cost is about $5000.

FUNERAL NOTICES

KNOWN—The funeral of the late Mrs. Ella Keown, will take place on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock from the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons, Funeral home of remembrance will be sung at 9 o'clock at St. Peter's church. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons in charge.

SHEEHAN—The funeral of the late Bartholomew Sheehan will take place Wednesday morning at 8:15 o'clock from the chapel of J. P. O'Donnell & Sons. At 9 o'clock a mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church. Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

SHEEHAN—Bartholomew Sheehan, a well known young resident, died Sunday at the Lowell General hospital, aged 24 years. He leaves two brothers, James A. of the Merrimack Clothing company, and Joseph of Lynn. The remains were taken to the chapel of Undertakers J. P. O'Donnell & Sons.

The delegation from the Lowell nest said that they came informally to the meeting, but were in sympathy with the movement to charter a New England order. A representative from the Worcester nest said that nest had taken a step in advance of the Massachusetts nest, because it had a charter to do business in Worcester, but that it would join the New England order for the purpose of fraternalism.

A letter was read from Sec. Brown of Holyoke asking information about the New England order. A score or more of Cambridge men said that while they did not represent their nest officially, they pledged themselves to the New England order. Mr. Doyle of the Revere nest said he was in sympathy with the new movement. The Jamaica Plain nest was represented by Mr. Ryan, who expressed himself as in sympathy with the New England order.

Atty. Herbert A. Kenny told of the work of the legislative committee and also the committee appointed to wait upon the district attorney.

Lawyer Kenny told of his interview with Dist. Atty. Pelletier, in which the latter said that he would not hesitate a moment to prosecute any officer of the old order of owls, whom he was convinced had absconded with the funds of the order.

The district attorney said, however, that he must give all parties a hearing. Mr. Pelletier said that he believed in the purposes of the order and that after the New England order of Owls was formed on a firm foundation he would be only too pleased to join.

In further presenting the report of the committee, Atty. Kenny claimed that Representative Cavanagh of Everett had acted unfairly toward the New England order of Owls and said that Cavanagh should be the last man in the world to complain about politics in a social organization. He referred to the contest between Joseph C. Dolan, now district attorney, and James F. Cavanagh for state deputy of the Knights of Columbus a few years ago.

Organizer Expelled
Mr. Kenny declared Timothy L. Connolly was right when he asked the legislative committee to exclude Representative Cavanagh from participation in its report. Connolly said that

NUMBER OF DRUNKS

Appeared in the Police Court This Morning

Judge Hadley found awaiting his attention in police court this morning an exceedingly large number of prisoners from all parts of the globe, but outside of a few first offenders, who were assessed the customary $2, all had made previous visits to the dock.

Thomas F. Murray was charged with being drunk and he pleaded guilty. This was the third time that he had been before the court, and for the next four months he will be in the Lowell jail. David M. Knex was sentenced to the state farm on a charge of being drunk three times within a year.

Samuel Scott was charged with being a third offender, but there was something more coming to Samuel. Patrolman Denevi told the court that Scott refused to work and was adjudged guilty and sentenced to the state farm.

John McGrath, Aristides Turvane, Daniel Shea, Patrick Boyle, Peter Rondeau and Simeon Sutnick and Fred Badger, succeeded in obtaining sufficient liquor yesterday to land them in the station, and they were each fined $5, which they paid.

Joseph Arrend was charged with being under the influence of liquor. He was not drunk, but Patrolman Dolphus Groux testified that he was summoned to the house of the defendant in Dodge street Saturday evening at 6 o'clock and found the man very drunk. His wife told the court that she had been married 17 years and had to work all the time for her own support, and that during the past three weeks she had not received one cent from her husband. The defendant was given a suspended sentence consisting of a fine of $6, with the understanding that this money should be paid to the wife within a short time.

William Wallace, William King, and Andrew Spellacy, were fined $5, or in default of payment, to be held for being third offenders, and Dennis Harrington, for the same offence was given a leave of absence to be spent at the state farm, while Frank J. McMahon will spend the next three months at the Lowell jail.

Frank Latta pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness, and he will be heard tomorrow morning.

John Rurak was charged with stealing flowers to the value of 20 cents from the garden of Jonathan L. Parker, in Hildreth street. When he was asked to plead to the charge he said he intended to take the flowers, but I did not take them," and a plea of not guilty was entered. Mr. Parker testified that for some time past he had been troubled by persons breaking down his lilac trees. Patrolman Thomas Sullivan testified to seeing the defendant, and two other fellows coming out of Mr. Parker's garden Sunday morning and they disappeared on the ground. The defendant was found guilty, and ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Placed on Probation
Michael F. Brady was charged with drunkenness, and assault and battery upon his wife. He pleaded guilty to both charges and after consultation with the court, the husband and wife patched up difficulties, and he was placed on probation.

Archie Ponies and Mahamdem Moustet were charged with adultery, and the case was continued until tomorrow in order to secure an interpreter.

Hyman Fined $2
John B. Hyman, charged with violating a city ordinance in keeping his automobile in Merrimack street for more than 20 minutes, pleaded guilty and was fined $2, which he paid.

Probation Officer Slattery released the unusual number of 16 first offenders, the largest number ever released from the local station.

MAX W. COHEN

Wants to be Next Dist. Attorney

Max Waldo Cohen, attorney at law of Cambridge and Boston, was in town yesterday.

Ordinarily, Mr. Cohen's presence in town would occasion no newspaper comment, for as a member of the Middlesex county bar he comes here on business frequently and only recently was here several days as counsel for the petition in the case of Julius Hopper vs. Saddle Hopper et al., heard before Mr. C. H. Conant as auditor.

But while in Lowell yesterday Mr. Cohen informed a reporter of The Sun that he will be a candidate for district attorney this fall. While here on the Hopper case Mr. Cohen stated that he might be a candidate, but would wait to see what District Attorney Higgins would do, intimating that he would not fight the present incumbent for the nomination. Yesterday, however, he announced his candidacy without any reservation, intimating that he understood that Mr. Higgins would not be a candidate.

Mr. Cohen stated that he will stump the entire county and will meet any opposing candidate or candidates in joint debate.

He didn't appear to have any too high regard for the "county ring," and intimated that that august body would hear from him when he mounted the rostrum. He also appeared to be quite familiar with the movement now underway, according to one of the Boston papers, against certain county officials.

When asked if his visit to Lowell had anything to do with politics or the attack on the officials, Mr. Cohen replied: "No, I am here today on a personal mission alone."

LEGAL RESIDENCE

Meaning of Expression Explained by the City Solicitor

The following asked for by the committee on teachers was handed down by City Solicitor Duncan today:

Office of City Solicitor, Lowell, Mass., May 16, 1910.

Committee on Teachers, Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:—I have your request for an opinion as to the meaning of the expression "legal residence" as used in section 3 of chapter 44 of the Revised Laws, for the purpose of determining whether or not the children of certain individuals are entitled to attend the public schools in our city free of charge. Said section provides, in part, as follows:

"Every child shall have the right to attend the public schools in the city in which his parent or guardian has a legal residence."

The word "residence" as used in this section is in my opinion equivalent to the word "inhabitation." In the case of Lee vs. the City of Boston, 2 Gray, 490, the court says:

"The word 'inhabitant' and 'resident' are commonly, though not invariably used, in the constitution and laws of this commonwealth as synonymous. There are a few passages in them where residents have a somewhat broader significance than 'inhabitants,' and designated a class of persons who have no domicile within the state."

But all such instances, wherever they are found, are exceptions. In general these words have only one and the same significance.

Proceeding on the theory therefore that a "resident" is an "inhabitant" as indicated by the opinion of the court in this case, we come to the question of what is required to constitute a person an "inhabitant." This question is discussed in the case of Harvard college vs. Gore, 22 Pick. 377. In that case the court defines the word "inhabitant" as follows:

"An inhabitant, by our constitution and laws, is one who being a citizen dwells or has his house in some particular town, and is subject to particular burdens; and this habitation may exist or continue notwithstanding an actual residence in another town or country, provided the absence is not so long or of such a nature as to interrupt or destroy the municipal relation previously existing."

Now, in applying this definition to a particular case it is necessary to consider among other things, the intention of the individual as evidenced by his own statements. If he declares that he is and intends to remain an inhabitant of a certain place in which he has municipal rights and duties, and is subject to particular burdens; and this habitation may exist or continue notwithstanding an actual residence in another town or country, provided the absence is not so long or of such a nature as to interrupt or destroy the municipal relation previously existing."

In the light of the above decision, I have carefully considered the cases of two parties who have recently given a hearing before your committee and on the whole am of the opinion that these parties have established their residence in this city within the meaning of the law.

Respectfully submitted, Wm. W. Duncan, City Solicitor.

JIMMIE MORIARTY

Will Box at Manchester Friday Evening

A large crowd of Lowell sports will journey to Manchester, N. H. Friday evening with Jimmie Moriarty, the Lowell boxer who will box 15 rounds with Frank Perron of Pawtucket, R. I. before the Queen City athletic club of that city. Perron has been making a fine name for himself at the Armory A. A. in Boston, and has yet to be defeated. Moriarty is training in this city and is in fine shape. The other bouts on the bill are: Young Pleasant, of Manchester vs. Billy Lewis of Concord, six rounds; Kid O'Brien of Lawrence vs. Jack Murphy of South Boston, eight rounds.

Ketchel-Flynn Bout

A large number of local sports will go to Boston tomorrow evening to witness the bout between Stanley Ketchel and Percy Flynn. This will be the only time that Ketchel will be seen in Boston this season and hence the unusual interest. Percy Flynn has come along so fast that the Boston sports are confident that he can hold his end up with Ketchel.

Young Doyle of this city will appear in a semi-final at Haverhill Friday night.

Path the strike in March, he had, for three years, been an employee in the paper mills. He was 47 years old.

MEETING OF OWLS

Organizer Expelled and Reorganization Work Started

BOSTON, May 16.—Fully 1200 members of the order of Owls gathered at Deacon hall yesterday afternoon and discussed the question of reorganization.

Martin T. Joyce called the meeting to order. Ex-Rep. Shields of South Boston was secretary.

Communications were read from vapid nests throughout New England, pledging their assistance to the New England Order of Owls. Letters from Hartford, signed by the president and secretary of the Hartford nest, told of a struggle that nest had with the South Boston nest, and asked the members of the Massachusetts nest to continue in their fight for a charter with a broad insurance feature.

The delegation from the Lowell nest said that they came informally to the meeting, but were in sympathy with the movement to charter a New England order. A representative from the Worcester nest said that nest had taken a step in advance of the Massachusetts nest, because it had a charter to do business in Worcester, but that it would join the New England order for the purpose of fraternalism.

A letter was read from Sec. Brown of Holyoke asking information about the New England order. A score or more of Cambridge men said that while they did not represent their nest officially, they pledged themselves to the New England order. Mr. Doyle of the Revere nest said he was in sympathy with the new movement. The Jamaica Plain nest was represented by Mr. Ryan, who expressed himself as in sympathy with the New England order.

Atty. Herbert A. Kenny told of the work of the legislative committee and also the committee appointed to wait upon the district attorney.

Lawyer Kenny told of his interview with Dist. Atty. Pelletier, in which the latter said that he would not hesitate a moment to prosecute any officer of the old order of owls, whom he was convinced had absconded with the funds of the order.

The district attorney said, however, that he must give all parties a hearing. Mr. Pelletier said that he believed in the purposes of the order and that after the New England order of Owls was formed on a firm foundation he would be only too pleased to join.

In further presenting the report of the committee, Atty. Kenny claimed that Representative Cavanagh of Everett had acted unfairly toward the New England order of Owls and said that Cavanagh should be the last man in the world to complain about politics in a social organization. He referred to the contest between Joseph C. Dolan, now district attorney, and James F. Cavanagh for state deputy of the Knights of Columbus a few years ago.

Organizer Expelled
Mr. Kenny declared Timothy L. Connolly was right when he asked the legislative committee to exclude Representative Cavanagh from participation in its report. Connolly said that that said Representative Cavanagh was a member of the old order of the Owls and was unfair.

Fully 20 delegates, Atty. Kenny said, appeared before the general court and stated that they were strongly in favor of the charter of the Massachusetts nest in its efforts to conform to the law and get a new charter.

Col. Roger F. Scannell produced a writ showing that he had been sued for $25,000 by the home nest at South Bend. "This is somewhat of a joke," said Col. Scannell. "I have been waiting for several weeks to hear from South Bend and I am glad that their lawyers have at last put in an appearance. This suit does not disturb me in the least."

"As far as I am concerned," he went on, "I do not surrender when the enemy is coming over the hill, but I die in the last ditch." Col. Scannell was applauded and the Massachusetts nest voted the colonel a substantial sum to help him out in his fight against the home nest.

On the other motion of Dr. Peter Deehan a committee was appointed to examine into remarks by Organizer Daniel H. Sullivan. This committee reported that Organizer Sullivan should be expelled from the order for his conduct toward the Massachusetts nest of Owls, and Organizer Sullivan was expelled from the Massachusetts nest by a unanimous vote.

By a unanimous vote Michael S. Drew, chairman of the auditing committee, and Thomas Coffey were suspended.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Takes a Hand in the Ballinger-Pinchot Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Taft, in person, last night took a hand in the situation which has arisen concerning the "inside" history of his letter of Sept. 13, exonerating Secretary Ballinger from the charges of Special Agent L. R. Glavis and authorizing the dismissal of Glavis.

Over his own signature he addressed a long letter to Senator Knute Nelson, chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, setting forth in detail the sequence of events after his receipt at Beverly on Aug. 18th last of the charges by Glavis.

The president makes no direct mention of the statement of Frederick M. Kerby, the young stenographer in Secretary Ballinger's office, published Saturday, in which Kerby said that the president's letter of exoneration was prepared in Mr. Ballinger's office by Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney general for the interior department. This explanation by Mr. Taft was obviously provoked by Kerby's statement, however.

Mr. Taft says not only that Lawler did prepare such a letter as Kerby said he did, but that he did so by the president's specific direction. When he received it, he found it was not what he wanted to see, and he wrote the letter in the form he desired, using from Lawler's draft only one or two general statements.

The president goes still further and takes up the question of the "back-dating" of Attorney General Wickesham's summary of the Glavis charges, to which Attorney Louis D. Brandeis has drawn attention. Mr. Taft says that the attorney general's letter was in fact "back-dated" and that this also was done by his specific direction.

Following is the full text of the president's letter:

The President's Letter

The White House, Washington, May 15, 1910.

My Dear Senator Nelson: In the hearings before the committee to investigate the interior department and forestry service, reference has been made to my decision upon the complaint and charges of L. R. Glavis, filed with me on the 18th of August last against Secretary Ballinger and certain other officials of the interior department. The majority of the committee has decided that my action in this regard was not within the jurisdiction of the committee to investigate. In spite of this ruling references to the matter have crept into the record. For this reason I deem it proper to write you and state with such accuracy as my memory permits what the facts are.

Glavis' statement and charges were left with me by him on Aug. 18, 1908. I turned them over to the attorney general, who happened to be in the neighborhood, and he made notes upon his reading. We both had personal knowledge in respect to Secretary Ballinger's attitude toward the Alaska coal claims, which was the chief subject of imputation and complaint, for Mr. Ballinger had very early in the administration consulted us both in regard to them.

Within two or three days after the filing of the charges, in a meeting at which the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general and the secretary of the navy were present, a full discussion of the Glavis statement was had. It resulted in a general conclusion that jealousy between the bureaus of the interior department and the forestry bureau probably explained the attitude of the interior department officials, but that the intimations of lack of faith by Glavis against Mr. Ballinger and the others required that the statement be submitted to the answer. Accordingly copies of the statement were sent to Secretary Ballinger, to Assistant Secretary Pierce, to Commissioner Dennett, and to Chief of Field Service Schwartz.

Mr. Ballinger was at Seattle, but upon receipt of the charges he came to Washington to prepare his answer. On Monday, September 6th, Mr. Ballinger reached Beverly, accompanied by Mr. Lawler, the assistant attorney general of the department of justice.

assigned to the interior department. Mr. Ballinger sent to my house on that day the answers of the various persons concerned, together with a voluminous record of exhibits. I had a conference with him, the evening of the day he came, September 6th, and then on the following evening, September 7th, I talked over the charges with Mr. Ballinger the next evening and asked such questions as suggested themselves, without intimating any conclusion, and said that I would examine the answers and the record and would see him the next day. I sat up until 3 o'clock that night reading the answers and exhibits; so that at my next conference I was advised of the contents of the entire record and had made up my mind that there was nothing in the charges upon which Mr. Ballinger or the others accused could be found guilty of either incompetency, inefficiency, disloyalty to the interests of the government or dishonesty.

In the discussions of the second evening Mr. Lawler, who was present at my suggestion, discussed the evidence at some length. I said to Mr. Lawler that I was very anxious to write a full statement of the case and set out the reasons for my decision, but that the time for my departure on a long western trip, occupying two months, was just one week from that day; that I had six or seven set speeches to deliver at the beginning of that journey, and that I could not give the time to the preparation of such a detailed statement and opinion as I would like to render in the matter. I therefore requested Mr. Lawler to prepare an opinion as if he were present.

During the 8th, 9th and 10th I gave such consideration to the Glavis record as was consistent with precious engagements, but paid no attention to the speeches. On the 11th I telegraphed the attorney general to come to Beverly in order that I might consult him in respect to the case. He arrived there Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11th, and, pursuant to an appointment made by telephone, he came to my house early on Sunday morning, Sept. 12th. He then delivered to me the draft opinion prepared by Mr. Lawler and said that he had had an opportunity on coming from New York to read the answers of Mr. Ballinger and others. I then said to him that I had made up by mind as to my conclusions and had drafted part of my opinion, but that I wished him to examine the full record and bring me his conclusions before I started mine. He took the whole record away.

During the day I examined the draft opinion of Mr. Lawler, but its thirty pages did not state the case in the way in which I wished it stated. It contained references to the evidence which were useful, but its criticism of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis I did not think it proper or wise to adopt. I only used a few paragraphs from it containing merely general statements.

The attorney general returned in the evening with notes of the examination which he had made, and reported to me the conclusions which he had reached, which were in substantial accord with my own. We then discussed the matter at some length, particularly from points of law which were involved, and took up the opinion which I had finished and made a number of alterations and as a result of that discussion I determined the final form which I embodied and signed the same on Monday, Sept. 13th.

The conclusions which I reached were based upon my reading of the record and were fortified by the oral analysis of the evidence and the conclusions which the attorney general gave me, using the notes which he made during his reading of the record. I am very sorry not to be able to embody this analysis in my opinion, but time did not permit. I therefore directed him to embody in a written statement such analysis and conclusions as he had given me, file it with the record and date it prior to the date made during his reading of the record. This was fortified by his summary of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom. Sincerely yours,

William H. Taft.

Hon. Knute Nelson, Chairman, Committee to Investigate the Interior Department and Forestry Service, United States Senate.

TRADE WITH THE PHILIPPINES
Treaty of the United States with the Philippines during the first 8 months of the new tariff law, which permits interchange of practically all articles free of duty, shows a marked improvement. The total value of exports to the Philippines during the period from August 1, 1909, to March 31, 1910, of which period all but the first five days of August was under the new tariff law, amounted to $11,400,000, against $7,000,000 in the corresponding period of the preceding year, and the imports from the Philippines in the same period amounted to $13,400,000, against $6,400,000 in the corresponding months of last year, the imports from these islands have practically doubled and the exports thereto increased about 64 per cent. when compared with the corresponding period of last year.

The growth in imports chiefly in sugar, cigars, fruits and nuts, manila hemp and other fibers, hats of straw or similar fiber, household effects, manufactures of silk, manufactures of wood, and manufactures of fibers. SNATCHED VICTORY

Lowell Team Was There With a Garrison Finish

After practically throwing away the game with Haverhill at Spaulding park, Saturday, and making over 2500 people very nervous, Pitcher Tyler suddenly came back in the seventh inning and, with the assistance of his team, snatched a victory at the 11th hour.

It was a Garrison finish all right and only sharp playing by the whole team brought it about. Tyler gave 10 bases on balls and made two wild pitches, all in the six innings, and of the 10, seven were made in two innings.

Mike O'Toole was on the slab for Haverhill, and he allowed only four hits and was steady throughout.

Conney, the Boston National infielder, appeared in a Lowell uniform and showed some class, while Ordway was an improvement on Campbell on third. Fitzpatrick was the real worker on the Lowell team for by fine base running he got two of Lowell's four runs. Fluharty was there with the little two-bagger that brought home the required run.

Lowell scored a run in the first inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate. Hagan hit to Fitzpatrick, who fumbled and the runner reached first. Wetzel was out on a fly and Hagan in trying to steal second was nailed. Foulke struck out.

In the latter half of the inning Fitz drew a base on balls and Ordway struck out. Fluharty hit to right field for a single and in trying to make second was caught between the bases. Fitz scoring on the put out. Magee got a single, and Conney hit to Wetzel and died at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Second Inning
There was nothing doing in the second inning. Moore drew a base on balls and Noblett was the second man out. Merrill drew a free pass and Fleming hit to Fitz and was out at first.

In the latter half of the inning Jones hit to Wetzel and was out at first. Hagan filed to Moore and was second out. Morse hit in front of the plate and was third out.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Third Inning
There were two more goose eggs registered in the third inning. Hagan filed to Morse and O'Toole hit to Fitz and was out at first. Hagan drew a base on balls. Hagan tried to steal second and was thrown out.

In the latter half of the inning Tyler hit to Noblett and was out at first. Fitzpatrick hit to Wetzel and was also out at first. Ordway struck out.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Fourth Inning
In the fourth inning Wetzel filed to Fitzpatrick. Foulke drew a free pass. Two passed balls allowed the runner to go to third. Moore struck out. Noblett drew a base on balls and a second. Merrill also drew a base on balls, but Fleming struck out.

In the latter half of the inning, Fluharty hit a grounder to O'Toole, and was out at first. Magee filed to O'Toole and Conney struck out.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Fifth Inning
The home team scored another run in the fifth inning. Sebastian opened with a single and O'Toole followed with a hot grounder to Ordway. Ordway threw to second getting Sebastian and the ball was thrown to first for a double play. Hagan was the third man out.

In the latter half of the inning Jones drew a base on balls and went to second on Hagan's sacrifice. Morse hit to Noblett and was retired at first. Tyler hit a Texas leaguer to left field.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Sixth Inning
In the sixth inning the visitors went to the front and sent three men over the home plate. Wetzel drew a base on balls and Foulke followed with a single. Hagan got Wetzel off second base. Moore and Noblett drew bases on balls. Merrill drew a base on balls, forcing in Foulke. Deane then went to bat for Fleming and got a single, scoring Moore. Sebastian struck out. Hagan at this point split his finger and Stone went in to catch. Stone got a passed ball and Noblett scored. O'Toole hit to Conney and was third out at first.

In the latter half of the inning Ordway hit to Hagan and was out at first. Fluharty hit to O'Toole and died a similar death and Magee was third out at first.

Score—Lowell 2, Haverhill 3.

Seventh Inning
There was nothing doing in the seventh inning. Hagan filed to Conney and Wetzel struck out. Foulke singled to left field fence but in trying to steal second Stone threw to Conney and he was the third out.

In the latter half of the inning Conney hit to O'Toole and was out at first. Jones went out on strikes and Stone filed to Merrill.

Score—Lowell 2, Haverhill 3.

Eighth Inning
In the eighth inning Moore singled to center field and went to second on Noblett's sacrifice. Merrill and Delaney struck out.

Lowell scored two runs in the latter half of the inning. Morse and Tyler hit grounders to Wetzel and were retired at first. Fitz drew a base on balls. Ordway got hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. Fitzpatrick then stole third. A passed ball allowed Fitzpatrick to score. Fluharty hit to center field for a two-bagger and scored Ordway. Magee was third out on a foul fly.

Score—Lowell 4, Haverhill 3.

Ninth Inning
In the ninth inning Sebastian filed to Jones and O'Toole hit to Fitz and was out at first. Hagan hit to right field for a single. Wetzel was third out.

"BIG CHIEF" BENDER, ATHLETICS' GREAT INDIAN TWIRLER

All hail "Big Chief Charley" Bender. The only man to reach first was Turner in the fourth inning. He was the third man at bat and walked, but he was quickly retired trying to steal. No other Nap man reached first except Turner. It was the greatest game of ball pitched under the Mack-American league regime. It was the fifth straight victory of the year for Bender. The Indian is twenty-eight years old and joined the Athletics in 1903. After leaving Carlisle he pitched for the season and would like to arrange a game with any team in the city under 12 years of age. Write to Manager E. J. Harp, 114 Chapel street, or T. Grady, 38 Elm street.

The Belvidere A. C. defeated the Moody school second team Saturday, 2 to 1. The Belvidere won games. Write to E. Oulmette, 21 Stackpole street.

The Avons defeated the Daytons by the score of 3 to 2 in a 12 inning contest on the fair grounds Saturday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of fans. The hitting of Jones and Townsend for the Avons was one of the features of the game, Jones making a home run by a long drive to deep center, and Townsend placing the ball far up Gotham street. Clarke's one handed catch caught the favor of the fans. Chesley umpired the two hour contest. The Avons will play any 22 year old team in the city.

The Nationals defeated the Pawtucket Grays on Saturday afternoon by the score of 9 to 7.

Here we are, the Broadway Juniors. We would like to play any 13 year old team in the city. Send all challenges to William Davey, 53 Willie street, or through this paper, Saturday, May 14. We defeated the Pawtucket Grays, 20 to 9. Our lineup is as follows: Walter Doyle, p. John Sullivan, c. Walter Poulton, 1b. Charles Canby, 2b. Thomas Delmore, 3b. Pat McInerney, ss. William Canby, lf. William Davey, cf. Philip Carroll, rf.

The Alder Stars defeated the Willows Saturday afternoon by 6 to 5, in a fast game.

The Young Indians would like to arrange a game with any team under 12 years of age in the city. Our lineup is as follows: Duprez, p. Lamontain, c. H. Hickey, 1b. R. Hickey, 2b. Enos, 3b. Max Short, ss. Kennedy, cf. Daly, lf. Conley, rf. Send all challenges through this paper.

The Bartlett school baseball team has made a better showing this year than in any preceding year. It has won all games played having beaten the Lincoln school 16 to 5, the Colburns 16 to 1, the Green school 12 to 1 and the Immature Conceptions 34 to 6. P. Lambert, Lannan, Garrity, Duval, George, Poulton, Mansfield, Flynn and Mahoney make up the Bartlett infield, while A. Lambert, Leavitt, Cullen and Welch star in the outfield.

AMATEUR BASEBALL
The West Ends defeated the L. M. S. Monarchs Saturday at Bartlett park, in a rather listless game, to the score of 13 to 5. The victors excelled in all departments of the game, by hitting the ball at opportune times, and good base running enabled them to carry off the bacon. The game was void of any spectacular plays, the redeeming feature being a double play by Mansfield, unassisted, battery for the West Ends, Donovan and Dawson.

The Young Leaders would like to challenge any team in the city under 14 years of age. We beat the Young Thieves in a red hot game to the tune of 9 to 8. We played 13 innings. Send all challenges to Bill Taylor, 178 Barker avenue.

The Y. M. C. A. team defeated the Mysteries in a L. & S. league game, Saturday afternoon at North Billerica, by the score of 7 to 1. Doyle pitching for Y. M. C. A. was in good form, holding the Mysteries to three hits and striking out 10 men. McVey and Scott contributed the fielding features for Y. M. C. A., while F. McPherson, who was given a try-out with New Bedford this spring, excelled for the Mysteries. Grant and Fahey hit the ball hard, Grant getting two two-baggers and a single, and Fahey pulling off two-bagger and a single.

Next Saturday the Y. M. C. A. team will play Pillings S. S. on the North common.

O. M. I. CADETS WON

Saturday afternoon on Tibbetts' field, the O. M. I. Cadets made it two straight in the Lowell and Suburban league series when they trimmed the strong Pillings Shoe shop team in a close game by the score of 9 to 7. The Cadets started well in the first inning when they pounded O'Brien for eight hits, with some fast base running, resulting in three runs. The lead, however, did not take the interest out of the game for the shoe shop team kept plugging all the time and managed to send in seven runs in the blue innings, which was not enough to win as the Cadets sent in two more in the fifth, making the final score 9 to 7 in their favor. The features of the game were the fielding of Cawley of the Cadets, who played a fast game at third, and the batting of Marcotte for the Pillings team. Score:

Pillings 0 0 3 0 1 0 1 2 0 7

Batteries: Cadets—Condon and Clark; Pillings—O'Brien and Maloney.

Next Saturday the Cadets and Wanderers will meet in a league game on the South common.

MOHAIRS WON

Piled Up Large Score on Andover Team

The Mohair Cricket club of this city chartered its new grounds Saturday afternoon by a glorious victory over the Andover team by a score of 131 to 21. Although the day was a trifle off color for good cricket, still the locals certainly put up a very stiff article of the real old game. The new grounds are all that could be desired.

Mohairs batted first. Hyde and Jeffries formed a partnership. The latter who has recently joined the club smashed out 45 runs in 30 minutes' wielding of the willow freely. Hyde and Barrett also did good work before they lost their wickets, while Capt. Hyde and T. Hoyle were left at the sticks with 19 and 13, respectively, to their credit when the captain declared the innings at 131 runs for the loss of three wickets.

Andover went to the wickets but made a very poor showing as Shaw and Whitaker were both out before they made a run. The only man making any showing were Haddon and Lamond, the latter losing his wicket lbw, when he seemed to be set for a good innings. The score:

VIEWED KING'S BODY GRAND TRIBUTE

Col. Roosevelt Arrived in London
This Morning

LONDON, May 16.—Theodore Roosevelt, special American ambassador to the funeral of King Edward, arrived in London this morning, was received by King George at Marlborough house and later visited the throne room in Buckingham palace where the body of the late monarch is privately lying in state.

The entrance to the city of the distinguished American was a quiet one and marked contrast with his appearance at other capitals and with what would have been made of the occasion here but for the demise of the British ruler.

It was Whit Monday holiday but despite this fact the popular crowd at Victoria station was a small one. There was no cheering but as Mr. Roosevelt alighted from the train and was escorted by American Ambassador Whitelaw Reid to the royal carriage which had been sent for him those who looked on silently lifted their hats.

The Roosevelt party which included Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt and Kermit left Berlin at noon yesterday and reached London, Holland, last night. They continued upon the regular train to Queensborough, England, where a special train was in waiting for them and which preceded the regular express for London and arrived at the Victoria station fifteen minutes earlier than the regular train which followed at 7:45 o'clock.

The transfer to the special train was quickly made and at 8 o'clock the party proceeded for this city which was reached at 7:30 o'clock. It had been supposed that Mr. Roosevelt would arrive on the regular train and this fact may have accounted in part for the comparatively small crowd at the station.

Upon the station platform awaiting the Roosevelt party were Ambassador Reid, Mrs. Reid, the other members of the American embassy and their wives, all dressed in mourning. Consul General Griffiths and the staff of the consulate, Robert Wynne, former United States consul general at London; Ogden Reid, son of the ambassador and a small group of Americans. There was no music, no waving of flags or other demonstration. When greetings had been exchanged Lord Dundonald escorted the Roosevelts and Ambassador and Mrs. Reid to the royal carriages which had been placed at their disposal by the king and they were driven at once to Dorchester house, the home of the ambassador. Later, accompanied by Mr. Reid, Mr. Roosevelt in the capacity of special American ambassador visited the king at Marlborough house. Following his reception by the monarch he was escorted to Buckingham palace and shown into the throne room where upon the catafalque repose the body of King Edward. Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied to the palace by Mrs. Roosevelt and the members of the American embassy and their wives. The Victoria station is closely picketed and patrolled by the police. Every entrance and exit is guarded and all applicants for admission are scrutinized. This precaution is taken for the protection of all members of royalty and other official representatives who are coming here for the funeral.

TEWKSBURY

To Archbishop Dantenwill at
C. M. A. C. Hall Yesterday

Panic Narrowly Averted When
Floor of Hall Began to Sink
Under Weight of Twice Its
Seating Capacity

So great was the crowd that gathered at C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street, Sunday afternoon, to greet Most Rev. Archbishop Dantenwill of Rome, general of the Oblates, one of the iron trusses supporting the floor gave way and the floor began to sink. It was a moment of terrible suspense and that a panic did not ensue was due to quick action and calmness on the part of Janitor Henry Barry and Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I. The janitor was first to scent the danger and he whispered his fears to Fr. Ouellette. The priest calmly requested the people at the back of the hall and in the aisles to leave the hall at once. He told them that the floor was sinking, but that if everyone would leave at once and he knew that it was being more than doubled. He tried to stop the rush but was unable to do so. Then he spoke to Fr. Ouellette and his word of warning was heeded.

Aside from the unrest caused by the accident the reception was a great success and a splendid tribute. Between six and seven thousand people turned out to greet Mr. Dantenwill, lining Merrimack street from the rectory to C. M. A. C. hall. At 8 o'clock the prelate drove in an automobile from the rectory to the hall in company with Rev. Fr. Wattelle and other members of the clergy, and escorted by the Garde d'Honneur, the Garde Prontance, the Garde St. Paul and the staff of the A. G. Cadets. On each side of the street, the boys and girls of the parochial schools, bearing flags, formed a long line of honor to the very door of C. M. A. C. hall. Along the way, many houses were decorated with the national colors.

At the hall the presidents of all the French-American Catholic societies were awaiting the archbishop in the reception room, to escort him to the assembly hall, where he took his place upon the stage with Rev. Fr. Wattelle, Rev. Fr. Lefebvre, O. M. I., the venerable dean of the Lowell Oblates; other members of the clergy and the presidents of the organizations represented.

Rev. Fr. Wattelle presented Mr. Dantenwill as the father of the Oblate family, and thanked the people for this great tribute to the head of a great order. An address to the archbishop from the men of the parish, was then read by Thomas J. Goyette, and a bouquet of 43 roses, representing the years the Oblates have been working here for St. Joseph's parish, was presented to him by Captain Joseph L. Lamoureux, of the Garde d'Honneur, also in the name of the men of the parish.

Address to Archbishop
The address to the archbishop was as follows:
"We could not express warmly enough the pleasure that your visit affords us. We regret only one thing, and that is: that, for lack of time, we have been unable to prepare for you a reception worthy of you, and more in harmony with the feelings of gratefulness, which we entertain for the revered Oblate Fathers, of whom you are the general."

"However, the very spontaneity of this improvised reception is a sign of what we could and would have done to receive you since 1865 the date of their coming to us. Your children, Monsieurs, have performed works which force the admiration of the whole population and justify the profound gratitude that the French Americans of Lowell feel for them."

"Out of the reverend fathers that your congregation has sent us, some have died in holiness, premature victims of their zeal and devotion; others are still alive, far from us; of all we keep an undying remembrance. And nothing less than the virtues and true apostolic zeal of those we have now with us, and the new surround your grace, can console us for the disappearance of those who have preceded them."

"These priests we sincerely beseech your grace to keep with us, and to increase their number. We know that the work they have to do is now beyond their strength, and edifying as may be their zeal among us, we do not wish to see them wear themselves out before their time."

"We would not so much insist that we do not appreciate the work of the

MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP DANTENWILL OF ROME,

and quietly as requested, all danger might have been averted.
Several hundred men filed out quietly and between 400 and 500 people remained in the hall. The capacity of the hall is between 600 and 700 and the crowd was more than 1000.

Had the hall been five times as large it would not have been equal to the occasion, for besides the hundreds that went out when the good priest spoke the word of warning, the streets and approach to the hall were lined with persons anxious to join in the splendid demonstration of regard for the honored general of the Oblates who is at present in this city visiting the local Oblate houses.

A popular reception was improvised for him Saturday by Rev. Fr. Henry Wattelle, O. M. I., the head of the parish, and a call was made for the men of the parish to come to C. M. A. C. hall Sunday afternoon and meet the distinguished visitor.

There was a splendid response to Rev. Fr. Wattelle's invitation. Janitor Henry Barry saw the great crowd making its way to the hall and he quickly realized that there was danger ahead. He knew the seating capacity

Oblates among us, and we beg your grace to consider this insistence on our part as the truest proof of the love and admiration we bear you and your spiritual children."

The Archbishop's Reply

"Your pastor says that there are 30,000 French Canadians in Lowell," said Archbishop Dantenwill in his response to the address. "but I should judge from this afternoon's demonstration that you were a million, and a million besides, with enough faith and enthusiasm for two million."

"I must congratulate you on your fine societies, which are admirably organized and gratifyingly prosperous. The union of Catholics in such bodies is of great help in preserving their faith, and that is the essential point. Keeping the faith. Material progress is not alone sufficient. The spiritual must come first. The work of your priests is to lead you in that, in making of you men of Catholic faith and action, and the end of Catholic societies is to help the priests accomplish this."

"I say men of Catholic faith and action, for the two, Catholic faith and good citizenship, must be intimately connected. If the Catholic societies do not make better American citizens out of you, they fail in their purpose and duty. The church needs you to show that the terms 'Catholic' and 'citizen' are two which can be linked into one to its greatest honor."

The reverend speaker varied the serious part of his discourse with flashes of wit which quite captivated his audience. After the conclusion of his speech he pronounced a benediction upon the whole assembly.

After the reception, a solemn benediction service was sung by the archbishop at St. Jean Baptiste church, especially for the women of the parish. He was assisted by Rev. Fr. Wattelle, as deacon and Rev. Fr. Brulard, as sub-deacon. The church was filled with women. Addressing them briefly before the service, the archbishop urged them above all to influence the men to come to church.

A choir of women only, under the direction of Dr. Calais, sang at the archbishop's request. "Veni Creator" and "Tantum Ergo" were sung, and Miss Bourassa sang in a delightful manner an "O Salutaris," by Mme. Arthur J. Marlet, at the organ, played with much charm, before the service. Du-hois, "In Paradisum," "Tocatta," by Tours-Gallin, and "Marche Religieuse," by Tours-Gallin, and after the service the march from Meyerbeer's "Prophete."

THE ARMENIANS

TALK OF FORMING A CHURCH IN LOWELL

The Armenians of Lowell held special services in St. John's Episcopal church yesterday afternoon, at which eleven infants were baptized by Rev. S. Tashjian of Boston.

A feature of the service was the reading of a special message from the head of the Armenian church in Russia by Mr. D. Manuehian of Lowell. The writer of the message urged the people of Armenia now in America to respect all American laws, and show by such respect that they are not only good citizens, but are loyal members of the church. The importance of learning the English language was also emphasized.

At the close of the services, a number of representative Armenians discussed the question of forming a church in Lowell, and holding monthly meetings. This was believed to be feasible, and a meeting will probably be held in the near future to take the necessary steps to this end.

"MOTHERS' DAY"

At the First Baptist Church

There was a large attendance at the service appropriate to "Mothers' day" at the First Baptist church Sunday night. The service was under the auspices of the Baraca class of young men, 70 of whom sat in a body in the front seats of the church. All the young men and many others present wore white flowers in remembrance of the mothers departed, or pink flowers in honor of the mothers living.

Baptism of two persons by the pastor, Rev. S. W. Cummings, opened the service. The music all related to the theme of the day. A quartet of ladies sang "As One His Mother Comforted," a mixed quartet sang "My Mother's Prayer." The whole choir of 60 voices sang "Mother's Prayer Saved Me," and Mrs. W. H. Pepin sang "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time in Thy Flight." Mr. Cummings spoke of the appointment of Memorial day as a day of national observance, and expressed satisfaction that a day in the month of May is coming into wide observance all over the country as Mothers' day.

The pastor's new assistant, Mr. A. S. Woodworth, was with the church yesterday and was given a cordial welcome. In the Baraca class he was greeted by 74 young men, and the attendance in the Sunday school was 644.

Rev. Mr. Cummings and Mrs. Cummings and Mr. W. W. Buzzell, president of the Baraca class, are to be in the delegation to attend a special New England train at 9:15 on Wednesday morning to attend the world's Sunday school convention in Washington, D. C., May 19-24. Rev. Dr. Blackburn is to preach next Sunday in the place of Mr. Cummings.

PATRICK LYONS QUILTS MINISTRY

Fell Into Canal in Jackson Street

Patrick Lyons, aged 42, of Chapel street, owes his life to Michael Sweeney, night watchman at the Lowell Machine shop. Lyons fell into the canal in Jackson street late Saturday night. He took a leap of about 25 feet and landed in about two feet of water. The canal had been drawn off, but there were pools here and there and Patrick found one of the pools. Lyons was stunned by the fall and when he came to he cried feebly for help. His cries were heard by Sweeney and it didn't take him long to locate Lyons. Sweeney could not do the work alone and he went looking for help. Patrolmen Sheridan, Clark and Briggs and escorted them to the scene. Lyons was then unable to talk and was pulled out of the canal with ropes. He sustained a bad cut on the back of his head and was more or less bruised. He was taken to the police station, where he was booked on a charge of drunkenness.

LIFE-SAVING APPLIANCE FOR PATROL WAGONS.

Neither our police nor fire patrol is equipped with the oxygen appliance for the resuscitation of people overcome by gas or smoke. It is a safety appliance that may save life in certain emergencies such as occurred recently in Pittsburg when an unconscious man was kept alive until the hospital was reached and more effective measures taken. It might prove useful if installed on the new auto fire patrol.

BETTER STREET SIGNS NEEDED.

Since the automobile has become so common on the public highway it is more necessary to have clear and legible street signs. Anybody who passes through the streets of Lowell will notice that it is very difficult for a stranger to find his way through the city on account of the lack of proper street signs. It is a fact that perhaps not more than half the street corners even along some of the principal streets give any indication of the names of the adjoining streets. It is a very common thing to find automobile parties losing their way in passing through our city for this very reason. It is a matter that should be remedied without delay by the street department.

FOR A PARADE ROUTE.

The Chamber of Commerce in Boston is advocating a public parade route, one that will serve sufficiently for all societies that want to make a fine showing and that will at the same time permit those who do not care to join in the parade, to continue their business. The aim is to prevent a suspension of business on the principal thoroughfares during the progress of a parade that may require four or five hours to cover its route. The suggestion is very sensible, and if the parade route were settled the people would then know just where to see the procession and how to avoid it if they didn't want to see it. There will come a time when the same idea will be applicable to Lowell.

AS TO RAISING THE MAINE.

There has been a whole lot of talk about raising the bulk of the lost battleship Maine from its position in Havana harbor. The government is negotiating with Cuba at the present time for permission to raise the wreck. A good many people are of the opinion that the bulk may have gone to pieces before this time, but even so let us get the pieces. There is a sentiment in favor of raising the remains of this now historic vessel and it may as well be satisfied now as later on. We surmise that even at this late day the wreck would reveal some gruesome results of the terrible explosion by which the vessel and so many human lives were sacrificed.

SCHOOLS MUST TEACH THRIFT.

The legislature has passed a law making it compulsory to teach the subject of thrift in the public schools. This is a new branch to be added to the school curriculum. The question is, who will teach this branch, how it will be taught, when and what text books will be used? It is a subject upon which a great deal may be said and much that is of a general nature may be found in literature, such for example as Franklin's "Poor Richard" and other articles. The course of studies in the schools has already been sufficiently burdened with extraneous branches without adding any more. It would be well for the school board before adding this branch to cut out a few of the non-essentials. We believe the system of school banks conducted in some of the schools might furnish all the instruction needed on that subject.

THE THEATRICAL TRUST.

It is announced that a theatrical syndicate has been formed in New York that will prevent to a very great extent the engagement of one night stands by theatrical companies. If any syndicate undertakes to prevent freedom of contract in such matters it should be proceeded against as a trust. It is a well known fact that the best companies can seldom play more than one night in many of the cities of average size. It is only the cheap companies, those with the poor shows that can run for a week in the average city. The case is different of course with Boston, New York or the other metropolitan centres. If the city of Lowell is to be deprived of seeing good shows which can be seen only in one night stands then something should be done to remedy the evil. There is a field for independent theatres that will not be controlled by the New York syndicate.

FOR REGULAR STREETS.

The Board of Trade will render a valuable service to the city if it succeeds in securing some regularity in the streets that are to be laid out in new territory to connect with the main thoroughfares from the centre of our city. In the past the rule has been that every property owner who had land sufficient to divide up into streets cut it up not with a view to the direction of the streets or their convenience from a public standpoint, but to make the most of the land and to leave as little as possible under public streets.

The result naturally was that the streets were irregular in direction and in width and usually too narrow. In spite of this, however, the city accepted the streets and kept them in fair condition once they had been rough graded and built upon. Any plan that will abolish this absurd mode of laying out our city streets much as a crazy quilt is planned will benefit our city as a whole. If the future growth of the city is to be regular and symmetrical it will help in a great degree to atone for the opposite qualities in the streets around the centre of the city.

SEEN AND HEARD.

A man who sat up Wednesday night (11) 3 o'clock to see the comet says that it is double.

You can't be sure that a man has got his cheeks and the backs of his hands tanned by hard work in the garden. He may only have been sitting on the benches.

Only think how much time Mr. Rochester saves every year by not having any hair to brush!

The comet's tail has been scientifically studied by the astronomers and found to be full of gases, like the average stump speech.

It is very hard indeed to love your neighbor as yourself, when the old curmudgeon refuses to lend you his lawnmower when you need it.

Nearly all pianos have locks, but unfortunately in the apartment houses they are very seldom used.

Another difference between the theorist and the practical man is that the practical man doesn't waste any time thinking how he can manage to make poetry pay.

"Habit is a cable! We weave a thread of it each day until it becomes so strong we are unable to break it."

"The misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come."

"Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with year by year."

"Go not abroad for happiness. For, if it is a flower that blossoms by thy door; Bring love and justice home; and then it will be more abundant."

Thou'lt wonder in what dwelling joy may be."

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessing."

This preparation was designed by the great American Druggists Syndicate to overcome the effects of hurried eating and to enable the confirmed dyspeptic to enjoy a hearty meal without distress afterward.

If you have indigestion and can't see a good doctor you should do the next best thing—take this remedy and get immediate relief. It takes the pain and the "burn" out of the stomach, encourages a greater secretion of the digestive fluids and puts new life and energy into the digestive organs. Safe and harmless. Get it at any A. CHARITY
If I were a breeze of Nature's muting, Freight with coolness and scent and dew, I never could set the tall trees shaking. Or blow through the meadows the summer through.

But I'd leave the green, and, for very pity, Would lift my burden of dainty scents And straightway fly to the crowded city Among the heat of the lamentations.

And I'd find some poor little, pale little child there, Who never had known the sea or skies. And I'd kiss her lips till I left a smile there, And another look in her tired eyes.

And I'd bring her the breath of the great waves breaking, And odor of pines from the open plain Till she would forget that her brow was aching.

And I'd lift up her poor little head again. Now don't you think this the nicest way, dear, For a breeze to act, beyond word or doubt?

Because—there's a moral tucked away here, If only your eyes could find it out.—Theresa Garrison.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Commencing with the matinee today, there will be a complete change of program, both of pictures and vaudeville, and another of the excellent bills being presented at the Opera House will be given. New and novel features are being constantly selected for the Opera House and the coming week's program will furnish its quota. The Eretto Bros. European gymnasts and head and hand balancers, will be seen as well as The Durands in a laughable comedy, singing and dancing sketch, "The Surprise"; Marie Camilla, singing violinist; Eva Medora, vocalist, and a fine series of the latest in the motion picture line, including a biograph picture, will complete one of the best bills of the season. Tuesday night will be amateur night as usual, and a fine line of amateur talent will be an added feature of the program. Matinees are given every day at the Opera House from 2 to 5 and two full shows are given at night, starting at 7 and 8.30. Prices are five and ten cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today the Theatre Voyons shows the real Roosevelt, who is traveling through Europe and making all nations sit up and take notice. Teddy was photographed in the jungles, but not till he got to Cairo did the photographers get a good show at him. This picture shows his strenuousness in every form and really represents the active, alert man whom the Americans love. Another picture that will make a big impression is a Pathe production of Cleopatra, elaborately staged and acted in way that will make everyone watch it from start to finish. There is also a sterling dramatic subject on the bill as well as funny comedy. The musical program is the equal of any.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Ever on the alert for the best attractions, the management of the Academy of Music offers for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as headliners Kelly and Adams in their great Irish comedy sketch, and Van Camp with his trained pig, which furnishes no end of laughter for everybody. The pictures have been carefully selected and the biograph will be one of the best pictures ever shown. Miss Claudia Bessette will sing new illustrated songs, and travelties of the different countries will be shown. The prices remain the same, 5 and 10 cents.

EMPIRE THEATRE

An entirely new and thoroughly good show opened at the Empire today. With all new pictures, both of comedy and dramatic character, the bill which is being presented will appeal to patrons as one of the best of the season. The attractions are of a class as good as any heretofore shown and the management feels safe in assuring the theatregoers of complete satisfaction with every number.

The Arizona Trio present a combination act of superb juggling and are marvelous acrobats. They are equally as good as other acts of this sort already seen at the Empire and made a great hit with the capacity houses.

Tom Bateman is the original dancing sailor. He brings with him a refreshing recollection of the sea and its frolics, introducing the dancing specialties of the sailors in a remarkably clever manner, pleasing the house with every effort and making a big hit. He dances some of the most difficult dances, but in that easy, graceful way that while it makes the dance look less difficult, yet to the people who can judge they will readily see that he is an expert.

The pictures are as good as ever with a biograph feature and comedy subjects that are the best. Mr. Charles Rogers will again render a new illustrated song and is sure to please his many friends.

STAR THEATRE

The Wolgast-Nelson fight pictures drew large crowds at the Star theatre last afternoon and those who attended declared that the pictures were the best of that kind ever exhibited in Lowell. A lecturer explained everything from the time the show started with the fighters in their training quarters. The arena is shown with the thousands of sports, who paid from $5 to $25 to see the contest. Before the fight starts, the promoters introduce several famous sporting men and prize fighters. When the first round started the spectators settled back in their seats to witness a reproduction of the fiercest prize fight in ring history. All eyes were alert to catch every move Wolgast and Nelson made, and everybody saw the sturdy Ad Wolgast fight and fight, never backing away from the daring aggressiveness Nelson. They saw the exchange of punches, neither man being willing to stall. Finally they saw the plucky and younger Wolgast outfight the oldest and kamest, the only hitting Nelson. And many in the audience sighed with relief when they saw the fighting Nelson's gestures of protest against stopping the fight. It was the pictures they saw, but they were real enough to make one think he was at the ringside.

The attraction will be at the Star theatre for three days and it is anticipated that thousands will see the pictures Tuesday and Wednesday. It is brought to Lowell as such an early date under big expense, but Lowell sports can get a line on the two men before they clash again.

HON. JOHN E. REDMOND INVITED TO LOWELL

Rev. Dr. Keleher Believes Irish Struggle Will Soon End in Triumphant Victory—Convention to Be Held in Buffalo

The United Irish league had a large attendance at the meeting in A. O. H. hall last evening with a very sensible address by Rev. Dr. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church.

REV. DR. KELEHER, Pastor St. Peter's Church

dress by Rev. Dr. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church.

In the absence of President Bourke, Mr. E. J. Gallagher presided and during the business meeting it was announced that the biennial convention would be held in Buffalo, N. Y., in September, and that Messrs. Redmond, R. P. O'Connor and Joseph Devlin would attend to represent the Irish party. It was voted to invite Mr. Redmond to speak in Lowell during his visit to this country in September.

Rev. Dr. Keleher was very warmly greeted on being presented to the audience. In opening he referred to his recollection of the Fenian days when as a boy he witnessed the departure of military companies for the Canadian border. Those men were willing to lay down their lives for the old land in the cause of freedom as old thousands and thousands of brave men during the dark struggles of Ireland's history have done it any other race but the Irish it would have been completely exterminated, but in the face of persecution, landlord oppression and exploitation, the people of Ireland struggled on, and when they found they could not meet the army, navy and the gold of England, the wisest friends of the cause turned to the most practical method of righting Ireland's wrongs, and what has been gained since the days of the great O'Connell bears testimony to the efficacy of that method which was never more potent than today.

"I am here tonight," said the speaker, "on account of the deep interest I feel in the cause of Ireland. Your committee has requested me to say a few words of encouragement. Under ordinary circumstances I could do so easily and with all my heart, but events have been moving so rapidly and so much in Ireland's favor that you are all familiar with the present very promising outlook."

"The friends of Ireland in America have adopted the wise policy of co-operation with the leaders of the Irish people at home. It is not theirs to dictate but to help by moral and financial means."

"What with the cable-bringing to us the statement of one of the most tried leaders of the Irish people, that the late King Edward was the greatest of modern monarchs and the greatest Englishman, while another great leader states that now for the first time since the English invasion can the people of Ireland sincerely lay a wreath on the bier of a dead English ruler. Whilst again we are informed that the new king is deeply touched by the resolutions of condolence adopted at every public meeting in Ireland, we are brought to realize that a vast change is taking place."

"We are told at the same time that this has produced a great effect in England, especially on the king, who at the present moment speaks more warmly of Ireland than any other country, and doubtless is inspired by the same desire as his father, to remove during his reign this great weakness of imperial strength, and prestige and dynamic solidity. With this comes the statement that by persistence and tact Ireland may find this one of the most propitious moments in her history."

"It seems to me that it is our province to watch, work, and wait. We can trust the Irish and faithful leaders who have carried on an unparalleled struggle with such grand results for the last 30 years. My sympathy and my aid have gone out to them because they have done things, because through their united, persistent and honest efforts the condition of Ireland today is better than at any time for hundreds of years. And the prospects were never so bright, the great battle for home rule will soon end in triumphant victory."

Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., spoke at some length on the bright outlook and urged continued work for the cause through support of the parliamentary party.

The musical program included a very fine piano solo by Mr. Hamill Byrne, who won much applause by his rendition of the Irish songs.

tion of Irish airs. Andrew A. McCarthy, the popular baritone, sang "Ireland, I Love You," and was enthusiastically cheered.

That buys the coal did it ever occur to you that to be a successful coal man, in the full sense of the word, you must have practical experience? Let us understand one another. The money that started me in the coal business I earned myself screening, shoveling and teaming coal right here in your own city. Today my coal yard and facilities for handling coal are second to none in this city. I know what coal is, and what coal is not; I know what to buy, and what not to buy; that means my customers do not have to suffer for my mistakes. I do not tell my men, go and do it. I say, come and do it; that means you hire your own foreman in place of the coal dealer hiring him for you. When you are about to place your coal orders, think this matter over.

VAN CLEAVE IS DEAD

Investigation

Of the "Splash" Held at Newport

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—J. W. Van Cleave, ex-president of the National Association of Manufacturers, died of heart disease at his home here yesterday.

Mrs. Van Cleave, formerly Miss Katherine Jefferson of Louisville, Ky., two sons, Harry and Brenton, and the only daughter, Mrs. Edith Fisher of Memphis, Tenn., were at the bedside when the end came. Another son, Charles B. Van Cleave, resides at Louisville, and Lee is in New York city.

As president of the National Association of Manufacturers, James W. Van Cleave of St. Louis became the central figure in the fight between the manufacturers who favored the open shop and the labor organizations, which led to the conviction of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Secretary Johnson for contempt of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

The fight began several years ago, through the publication of the Bucks Stove and Range company, of which he was president, in the list of "unfair" shops.

The publication was made for some time in the Federalist, the organ of the American Federation of Labor, issued in Washington, and a petition for an injunction was brought before the justices of the district court, Justice Ashley M. Gould presiding.

Far-reaching campaign
Some time before the case was tried it was publicly announced that the National Association of Manufacturers had determined to spend $1,500,000 to carry on a fight for open shops and to put down labor organizations. Able attorneys were hired to prosecute the fight for the manufacturers' side of the controversy and to bring before the courts capitalists and workmen who would go outside of what the association considered their rights to impede the tranquillity of industry.

President Van Cleave was put in charge of the effort, and at his suggestion trained writers and orators were hired and committees appointed to appear before congress to carry on a campaign of education from the manufacturers' standpoint.

Mr. Van Cleave in an interview given about the case said that he "fights with an ax," and in his warfare upon the labor organizations and their officials showed that he meant to kill labor unionism if possible.

In August, 1907, Mr. Van Cleave filed a suit in equity in the District of Columbia court to have a permanent injunction restraining the official publication of the American Federation of Labor from publishing the names of his stove company among the list of "unfair" shops.

Later a supplemental bill was filed, charging that the federation was pressing the boycott and a temporary injunction was asked prohibiting the pressing of the boycott, and on Dec. 17, 1907, Justice Gould granted the temporary injunction.

The Federalist continued to carry the names of the St. Louis company in its list of "unfair" shops, and the boycotting of the boycott, and on Dec. 17, 1907, Justice Gould granted the temporary injunction.

On April 21 of last year he resigned.

At his death he was president of his manufacturing company and that of the National Association of Manufacturers. Mr. Van Cleave was also president and one of the most active workers of the Citizens Industrial Association of America, formed to further "the policy of a protective tariff, liberal scope and affording to every American industry in need of protection from foreign competition the benefit of schedules ample to accomplish this purpose."

at the annual election of the National Association of Manufacturers, when John Kirby, Jr., was elected president of the body, Mr. Van Cleave was given a demonstration, and the new president pledged himself to carry out the policies Mr. Van Cleave had begun.

6 O'CLOCK TWO UNDER ARREST

In Bank Swindling Case at Fitchburg

FITCHBURG, May 16.—Corbett McLane, aged 35, who gives his residence as Worcester, and a man who says he is James A. McNeil, but who the police say is James Russell, were taken up at the police station last night. McLane is booked on a charge of larceny and McNeil is held on an indictment for forgery returned last Thursday.

Both men are said by the police to have been implicated in the swindle whereby the Worcester North Savings bank was buccooed out of $100 on May 4. The third man wanted gave the name while here of George P. Sands.

McLane was brought here from Worcester by Inspector Flaherty and was taken to the police station. From what was learned from him the police later placed him under arrest and charged him with larceny. McLane gave his business as an insurance agent. He is married and lives on Castle street, Worcester. He was held on default of $2500 bail.

McNeil was arrested by the Boston police. He was brought here last night and taken to the central station. No charge was preferred against him, but an indictment for forgery had been returned against him last Thursday. He was turned over to Sheriff Duval today and will be arraigned in the superior term this week at Worcester.

It is claimed by the police that McLane, McNeil and a man who gave the name of Sands represented to officials of the Worcester North savings bank that they had purchased a piece of property valued at about $4000 from John Dohia of this city on May 4, and that upon their representation the bank gave one of the men a loan of $1700 on the property, taking a mortgage for the amount of the loan. It later developed that the bank had been swindled, as the property which the men claimed they purchased and upon which they secured a loan was found to be rightfully in the name of John Dohia.

The investigation showed that the swindlers had stolen a deed from Dohia and forged Dohia's name to it, and then placed it on record in the registry of deeds.

McLane was identified last night by Attorney Jean Robichaud as one of the three men who came to his office when the deed was signed and affidavits were taken. It is claimed that he stole the deed from Dohia. The police say McLane is the man who represented himself as John Dohia and who forged Dohia's name to the deed.

The police have a good description of the man called "Sands" and expect to get him.

The man who gives the name of McNeil is well known in the city. He worked here for the past six years as a barber under the name of James Russell. He is 35 years old and unmarried. His home is in Boston.

COLEMAN ARRESTED AGAIN

CAMBRIDGE, May 16.—George W. Coleman, former bookkeeper of the closed National City bank, who will be tried on Wednesday for the larceny of $250,000 from the bank, was arrested again today for the larceny of $350 from Frank Andrews, one of the depositors. The police state that Coleman obtained the money from Andrews on checks which were not discovered until the receiver of the bank, John L. Bates, had spent nearly two months in investigating the affairs of the institution. Coleman was released on $2000 bail pending his trial in the federal courts where it is expected, he will plead guilty and accept sentence.

Later in the day Coleman issued a statement in which he claimed that the arrest was instigated by W. J. Keliber through whom Coleman says he lost much of the bank's money trying to break a faro bank. Keliber is jointly indicted with Coleman for the shortage in the National City bank and will be tried on Wednesday.

JUDGE J. S. KEYES LUSTIG GUILTY

Well Known Concord Resident Dead

CONCORD, May 16.—Judge John S. Keyes, one of the best known and oldest residents of Concord, died yesterday in the Massachusetts general hospital in Boston, in his 85th year.

He had been in poor health more than two months, and had been under treatment in the hospital about three weeks. Although his death was unexpected, it was a shock to the residents of this town. When word of his death was received here, shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning, bells throughout the town were tolled.

The funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow in the First Church meeting house at Concord. The burial will be private.

SAVINGS STOLEN COURT STARTLED

WELLESLEY MAIDS FAILED TO SEND FOR HELP

WELLESLEY, May 16.—Two servants, who were the sole occupants of apartments at Wellesley Hill, were robbed of $225 by a daring burglar yesterday. They had heard the intruder in the upper part of the house, and their neglect to summon help cost them all their savings.

The robbery occurred in the apartments of J. W. Edmunds in "Eaton Court" on Washington street. The family was absent and the house was in charge of Della Cabre and Helen Glynn, the maids. Although their sleeping rooms are on the third floor of the building, the girls were in the second story when they heard footsteps in the rooms overhead.

The house is a short distance from the local police headquarters and the telephone exchange, but neither girl thought of sounding the alarm. Instead they tiptoed to the street door, wrapped the family silverware in cloths and carried it to the second floor, where they hid it.

Later they thought they heard the intruder leaving the building, but they did not report the occurrence until late in the forenoon. Then it was discovered that Miss Cabre's trunk had been rifled of $150, while $55 had been taken from the Glynn woman's dresser.

CHARGED WITH BRIBERY

CHICAGO, May 16.—The trial of Lee O'Neil Brown, democratic leader in the lower house of the legislature, indicted on a charge of bribery in connection with the election of Senator Lorimer was placed on call in the criminal court today before Judge McSurley.

State Attorney Burke of Sangamon county started an investigation at Springfield to influence legislation.

State Attorney Wayman of Cook county made application to Judge McSurley to have all witnesses placed in direct custody of the court in order, it was said, to prevent any witness being taken in Springfield to testify in the "jackpot" investigation while the Brown case is on trial in this city.

HEIKE ON TRIAL

NEW YORK, May 16.—Charles R. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Co., charged by the government with the man higher up in the sugar underweighing conspiracy, was placed on trial today in the United States circuit court before Judge Martin. John B. Stanchfield, Heike's counsel, renewed the plea of not guilty for his client and elected to have the case go to trial by jury. One hundred talesmen were summoned from whom to select twelve men to try the case.

WOMAN WAS KILLED

NEW YORK, May 16.—Lost in the city and badly confused, Helen A. Loven, a young woman of Madison, N. J., stepped off the rear end of a Sixth avenue elevated train early today and fell between the ties. A following train struck and killed the girl who was wedged between the rails and could not extricate herself.

HIS MONEY GONE GLOUCESTER WIFE

Man Tried to Commit Suicide Took Revolver From Insane Husband

BOSTON, May 16.—Out of funds and discouraged from failure to find employment, Jacob Apfelbaum, a native of Russia, was found unconscious yesterday in a room filled with gas in the apartment of Mrs. Rose Matlick, 5 Oswego street.

Apfelbaum came to this country a few months ago from Poland in Russia, where he had followed the trade of a carrier. For some weeks he lived with a cousin, Reuben Goren, at 75 Erie street, Dorchester, and later with the latter's brother, Solomon Goren, 40 Rock street.

He had tried his hand at various trades, but failed to make any success. Possessed of a good voice, he sought occupation with the moving picture theatres, but was handicapped by his ignorance of English.

On Saturday evening he left the Goren residence and applied for a room with Mrs. Matlick. It appears that he did not sleep through the night, and yesterday morning he asked Mrs. Matlick if he might sing. Receiving permission, he did so, singing a Yiddish equivalent of "Home, Sweet Home," but as the landlady described it, "he did not sing happily."

About 2 p. m. Mrs. Matlick, who was sitting on the stairs of the house with her baby, smelled gas coming from her lodger's room. Alarmed, she called for help. Mrs. Rita Morris, a tenant in the same building, answered her calls and opened the door of the room, which was not locked.

The room was filled with gas, while the young man was unconscious on the bed. The gas-cock was turned on. Apfelbaum was taken to the City hospital and quickly recovered.

STRANGE BEETLE IS DOING DAMAGE TO OLD TREES

BOSTON, May 16.—The cause of the extermination of many old trees, especially in New England, is a strange beetle recently discovered, according to a statement by Prof. C. T. Bruns of Harvard university.

"The beetle has already destroyed many trees," said Prof. Bruns, and might be called the "strange beetle" from the peculiar round holes with which the larvae penetrate the bark of the elm after digging a perfect mass of tunnels under the bark, often completely girdling the trees.

The trees attacked by the beetle quickly die. It is a native of New England and must conclude that within a few years they will have become exterminated and saved from extinction only through transplanting or seeding in other sections of the United States where the parasites have not appeared.

Many of the insects have been discovered in the elms of the college yard at Cambridge.

SOCIALIST PARTY CONGRESS

CHICAGO, May 16.—The twelve women delegates to the national congress of the socialist party now in session here won a victory in the first clash which came before that body yesterday. The twelve women scored decisively when in spite of opposition they carried the motion picture headlined by Alexander Berkman, who they succeeded in placing a ban on smoking during sessions of the congress. Mrs. Corey, delegate from the state of Washington, started the fight on tobacco. At the morning session she made a request that there be no smoking, but her wishes were disregarded. In the afternoon she moved that indulgence in the word be strictly prohibited.

Mrs. Berger said she wanted to be able to smoke and suggested that on the principle of equal rights the women might also have the privilege of indulging. A vote on the proposition showed Mrs. Corey to have carried the day and the anti-tobacco rule was put into effect.

THE COUNTY COAL EXCELLENT OBSERVATIONS MADE

Ed. Cawley Gets North Middlesex Contract

The county commissioners held their monthly meeting at the court house this morning and apparently the talk of an investigation has not ruffled their urbanity in the least.

The first business was the opening of bids for the coal supply at the Lowell jail, Lowell court house and the Middlesex training school at North Chelmsford.

Edward Cawley received the contract, his bid for the entire amount being $4785.40. The other bidders were E. A. Wilson & Co., $487.20; Horse Coal company, $5125.30; D. T. Sullivan, $5173.50. The dealers bid on each lot, and the commissioners grouped them, giving the entire contract to the dealer with the lowest total.

Selectman King and Duffy of Tewksbury, Town Counsel Melvin G. Rogers and the Messrs. Trull appeared before the commission relative to the widening of Andover street in Tewksbury near the North church. The commissioners granted the petition and will assess the damages later. The town representatives expressed the town's desire to the county to bear some of the expense and while that subject has not yet been discussed by the commissioners, the town authorities believe that the county will help out. In order to widen the road at the point named it will be necessary to move a schoolhouse and tear down a house. The owner of the house wants $3000 for it. The road work will consist of about 700 feet of macadam road, 70 feet wide. The estimated cost is about $8000.

MAX W. COHEN

Wants to be Next Dist. Attorney

Max Waldo Cohen, attorney at law of Cambridge and Boston, was in town yesterday.

Ordinarily, Mr. Cohen's presence in town would occasion no newspaper comment, for as a member of the Middlesex county bar he comes here on business frequently and only recently was here several days as counsel for the petition in the case of Julius Hopper vs. Sadie Hopper et al., heard before Mr. C. H. Conant as auditor.

But while in Lowell yesterday Mr. Cohen informed a reporter of the Suffolk county that he was a candidate for district attorney. While here on the day of his announcement he was out on any reservation, and stated that he understood that Mr. Higgins would not be a candidate.

Mr. Cohen stated that he will stump the entire county and will meet any opposing candidate or candidates in joint debate.

He did not appear to have any too high regard for the "county ring," and intimated that that august body would hear from him when he mounted the podium. He also appeared to be quite familiar with the movement now underway, according to one of the Boston papers, against certain county officials.

When asked if his visit to Lowell had anything to do with politics or the attack on the officials, Mr. Cohen replied: "No, I am here today on a personal mission alone."

LOST ONE THUMB

Geo. Ducharme Badly Injured

George Ducharme, who resides at 22 Willis street, met with a very painful injury this morning while at work on a shoe cutting machine at the factory of the Federal Shoe company, by having his left thumb taken off. He was taken in the ambulance to the Lowell general hospital, where the injury was dressed.

DROWNED HIMSELF

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 16.—The accident over back of work, John D. Cohen, one of the strikers at the Palmer Falls mills of the International Paper Co., killed himself by drowning in a small creek near his home at Palmer Falls, yesterday.

GENEVA, N. Y., May 16.—Excellent observations of Halley's comet were taken this morning by Prof. Brooks, director of Smith observatory, who reported the comet's tail stretching out in a broad band across the heavens to a length of more than forty-five degrees. The nucleus, Prof. Brooks said, was very bright, being easily visible with the naked eye long after the stars, except Venus, had disappeared.

Dr. Brooks said that the comet viewed through the telescope showed the same remarkable changes in form that were noted three days ago. Its shape this morning was that of a pointed crescent with the nucleus on the extreme front and much larger than noted at any previous observation.

WEDDING IS OFF BOY WAS KILLED

Man in the Case Was Struck Dead on Top of Car

BIDDEFORD, Me., May 16.—Frank Jones, aged 17, who lived with his grandfather, William Jones, 53 North Bow street, Biddeford, Me., was killed by being struck by an overhead bridge on the eastern division of the Boston & Maine in this city about midnight. William Jones, aged 16, of a Blue street, Biddeford, had a narrow escape from death. They were stealing a ride on top of a box car in a train that left Biddeford for Boston about 11 o'clock Saturday night.

The boys left Biddeford, according to young Conley, in search of work. Wednesday. They were unable to get a job in Boston and bought tickets on the boat for Portland. They had $3 between them when they left home, and after they had paid for meals in Boston and they decided to return home and jumped freight 254 for Boston.

They hunted up a former acquaintance who worked in a Portland restaurant and he gave them something to eat during their stay there. They slept anywhere, being unable to get work in Portland. They decided to return home and jumped freight 254 for Boston.

Then came the big fire and the Biddefords moved to New York, and Manelli followed them there. He and Gellette would have eloped long ago but for the wishes of the girl to stand by her parents and aid them in their misfortune. They had a long engagement to Boston to stay at the home of an aunt in South Boston, with the plan that Manelli would follow and they would be married here.

The marriage was set for last Friday afternoon. About two hours before the wedding many Portlanders came to the wedding and the bride and groom were married. After a time Gellette was allowed to go home, but Manelli was taken before the court.

The judge decided there was not sufficient evidence for holding Manelli and he was released. He was taken to the police, however, and held in custody and expected that the necessary papers will arrive from New York.

STEAMER DISABLED

SOUTHAMPTON, May 16.—The disabled steamer Kronsand of the Red Star line arrived here today and will be tied up for repairs. The Kronsand left Antwerp Saturday for New York and broke a shaft soon after putting to sea. She was unable to make her stop at Dover but proceeded here under a single screw.

HARVARD MEN

DID NOT GET GOOD VIEW OF COMET TODAY

CAMBRIDGE, May 16.—The morning observations of Halley's comet by the Harvard observers closed today with another disappointing effort and for the next few days views of the visitors can only be made in broad daylight.

Whether Halley's comet will come sufficiently bright to be seen at noon-day tomorrow or on Wednesday either before or after the sun is yet a matter of conjecture. If the moon were not so bright on Wednesday evening there might be a chance to see the end of the comet's tail as it hurried down behind the western horizon after the sunset.

Of interest on Thursday evening while on Friday night, Halley's comet should be one of the finest celestial spectacles in the last quarter of a century, rivaling the comet of 1842. The transit will be visible to observers equipped with dark glass or a Jupiter telescope and India, or practically throughout the region from longitude 129 west to longitude 30 east.

On Wednesday the earth will pass through the comet's tail but as that appearance is believed to be compensated by something far thinner than the tail, it will be of little interest. The nearest approach of making Venus was seen in March, but the paper says, it was 51 years old.

LATEST CAR HIT A TREE

Eleven Persons Were Injured at North Attleboro

NORTH ATTLEBORO, May 16.—An electric car on the Interstate line, which left North Attleboro for Attleboro at 7 o'clock last night, met with a serious accident in front of the residence of James Lavery. The rear truck left the rails while the car was running at a fast rate of speed and after going for a distance of 25 feet crashed into a large elm tree by the roadside. The car was badly damaged and a few of the passengers were seriously injured. The injured are:

Edward Cobb of North Attleboro, bruised.
Fred Dobra of North Attleboro, back wrenched, bruised.
Frank Rice of North Attleboro, eye cut, bruises about body.
There were others who suffered minor injuries, and nearly all of the 40 passengers were shaken up by the crash.
The car was in charge of Motorman Benjamin Benson and Conductor Robert Cahoon. It left North Attleboro with 40 passengers bound for Attleboro Falls and Attleboro. As the car was passing by the Lavery house a short distance from the center of the town the rear truck suddenly left the rails. The rear part of the car went along in a diagonal course for about 35 feet, when it crashed into a large tree. But for this tree the car would have turned turtle.
The crash broke nearly every window in the car and smashed the rear vestibule to splinters. Passengers were thrown about and a small panic was created.
Conductor Cahoon, who was standing in the rear vestibule, was thrown about 15 feet into the street, but escaped with slight injuries.

Office of City of Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass.
May 16, 1910.

Committee on Teachers,
Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:—I have your request for an opinion as to the meaning of the expression "legal residence" as used in section 3 of chapter 44 of the Revised Laws, for the purpose of determining whether or not the children of certain individuals are entitled to attend the public schools in our city free of charge. Said section provides, in part, as follows:

"Every child shall have the right to attend the public schools in the city or town in which his parent or guardian has a legal residence."
The word "residence" as used in this section is in my opinion equivalent to the word "inhabitant." In the case of Lee vs. the City of Boston, 2 Gray, 400, the court says:
"The word 'inhabitant' and 'resident,' 'inhabitant' and 'residence' are commonly, though not invariably used, in the constitution and laws of this commonwealth as synonymous. There are a few passages in them where 'residence' has a somewhat broader significance than 'inhabitant,' and designates a class of persons who have no domicile within the state. But all such instances, wherever they are found, are exceptions. In general these words have only one and the same significance."
Proceeding on the theory therefore that a "resident" is an "inhabitant" as indicated by the opinion of the court in this case, we come to the question of what is required to constitute a person an "inhabitant." This question is discussed in the case of Harvard college vs. Gore, 22 Pick. 377. In that case the court defines the word in the following manner:
"An inhabitant, by our constitution and laws, is one who being a citizen dwells or has his house in some particular town, where he is subject to particular duties, and is subject to particular burdens; and this habitation may exist or continue notwithstanding an actual residence in another town or county, provided the absence is not so long or of such a nature as to interrupt or destroy the municipal relation previously founded."
Now, in applying this definition to a particular case it is necessary to consider among other things, the intention of the individual as evidenced by his own statements. If he declares that he is a resident of a certain town, and intends to remain an inhabitant or resident of a certain town, which he has municipal rights and duties and is subject to certain burdens which can fall only on an inhabitant, then his stated intention if borne out by the existing circumstances, is entitled to full credence. The fact that he happens to reside for the time in another place does not deprive him of his right to vote, his eligibility to office and his liability to taxes have not been altered by such temporary change of residence.
In the light of the above decision, I have carefully considered the cases of two parties who were recently given a hearing before your committee and on the whole am of the opinion that these parties have established their residence in this city within the meaning of the law.
Respectfully submitted,
Wm. W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

MEETING OF OWLS

Organizer Expelled and Reorganization Work Started

BOSTON, May 16.—Fully 1200 members of the order of Owls gathered at Deacon hall yesterday afternoon and discussed the question of reorganization.

Martin T. Joyce called the meeting to order. Ex-Rep. Shields of South Boston was secretary.

Communications were read from various nests throughout New England, pledging their assistance to the New England Order of Owls. Letters from Hartford, signed by the president and secretary of the Hartford nest, told of a struggle that nest had with the South Bend, Ind., organization, and asked the members of the Massachusetts nest to continue in their fight for a charter with a broad insurance feature.

The delegation from the Lowell nest said that they came informally to the meeting, but were in sympathy with the movement to charter a New England order. A representative from the Worcester nest said that nest had taken a step in advance of the Massachusetts nest, because it had a charter to do business in Worcester, but that it would join the New England order for the purpose of fraternalism.

A letter was read from Sec. Brown of Holyoke asking information about the New England order. A score or more of Cambridge men said that while they did not represent their nest officially, they pledged themselves to the New England order. Mr. Doyle of the Revere nest said he was in sympathy with the new movement. The Jamaica Plain nest was represented by Mr. Ryan, who expressed himself in sympathy with the New England order.

Atty. Herbert A. Kenny told of the work of the legislative committee and also the committee appointed to wait upon the district attorney.

Mr. Kenny told of his interview with Dist. Atty. Peabody, in which the latter said that he would hesitate a moment to prosecute any officer of the old Order of Owls, whom he was convinced had absconded with the funds of the order.

The district attorney said, however, that he must give all parties a hearing. Mr. Peabody said that he believed in the purposes of the order and that after the New England Order of Owls was formed on a firm foundation he would be only too pleased to join.

In further presenting the report of the committee, Atty. Kenny claimed that Representative Cavanaugh of Everett had acted unfairly toward the New England Order of Owls and said that Cavanaugh should be the last man in the world to complain about politics in a social organization. He referred to the contest between Joseph C. Peabody, now district attorney, and James F. Cavanaugh for state deputy last fall. Cavanaugh lost a few years ago.

Organizer Expelled
Mr. Kenny declared Timothy L. Conolly was right when he asked the legislative committee to exclude Representative Cavanaugh from participation in its report, because of the fact that said Representative Cavanaugh was a member of the old order of the Owls and was unfair.

Atty. Kenny said, appeared before the general court and stated that they were strongly in favor of the charter of the Massachusetts nest in its efforts to conform to the law and get a new charter.

Col. Roger F. Scannell produced a writ showing that he had been sued for $25,000 by the home nest at South Bend. "This is somewhat of a joke," said Col. Scannell. "I have been waiting for several weeks to hear from lawyers here at last put in an appearance. This suit does not disturb me in the least."

"As far as I am concerned," he went on, "I do not surrender when the enemy is coming over the hill, but I die in the last ditch." Col. Scannell was applauded and the Massachusetts nest voted the colonel a substantial sum to help him out in his fight against the home nest.

On the other motion of Dr. Peter Dechay a committee was appointed to examine into the remarks by Organizer Daniel H. Sullivan. This committee reported that Organizer Sullivan should be expelled from the order for his conduct toward the Massachusetts nest of the New England order. The Massachusetts nest by a unanimous vote.

By a unanimous vote Michael S. Drow, chairman of the auditing committee, and Thomas Coffey were suspended.

IN POLICE COURT

The Session Had No Cases of Importance

Judge Hadley found awaiting his attention in police court this morning an exceedingly large number of prisoners from all parts of the globe, but outside of a few first offenders, who were assessed the customary $2, all had made previous visits to the dock.

Thomas F. Murray was charged with being drunk and he pleaded guilty. This was the third time that he had been before the court, and for the next four months he will sojourn at the Lowell jail. David M. Knox was sentenced to the state farm on a charge of being drunk three times within a year.

Samuel Scott was charged with being a third offender, but there was something more coming to Samuel, for Patrolman Dennett told the court that Scott refused to work and was drunk most of his time. He was adjudged guilty and sentenced to the state farm.

John McGrail, Aristides Turvenne, Daniel Shea, Patrick Doyle, Peter Rondeau and Simon Sutzack and Fred Badger, succeeded in obtaining sufficient liquor yesterday to land them in the station, and they were each fined $5, which they paid.

Joseph Arcand was charged with being under the influence of liquor. He said he was not drunk, but Patrolman Dolphus Giroux testified that he was summoned to the house of the defendant at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock and found the man very drunk. His wife told the court that she had been married 17 years and had to work all the time for her own support, and that during the past three weeks she had not received one cent from her husband. The defendant was given a suspended sentence consisting of a fine of $5, with the understanding that this money should be paid to the wife within a short time.

William Wallace, William King, and Andrew Spellacy, were fined $6, for being third offenders, and Dennis Harrington, for the same offense, was given a leave of absence to be spent at the state farm, while Frank J. McMahon will spend the next three months at the Lowell jail.

Frank Lotta pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness, and he will be heard tomorrow morning.

John Rurak was charged with stealing flowers to the value of 25 cents from the garden of Jonathan L. Parker, in Hildreth street. When he was asked to plead to the charge he said: "I did not take them," and a plea of not guilty was entered. Mr. Rurak testified that for some time past he had been troubled by persons breaking down his blue trees. Patrolman Thomas Sullivan testified to seeing the defendant, and two other fellows coming out of Mr. Parker's garden Sunday morning and they dropped flowers on the ground. The defendant was found guilty, and ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Placed on Probation
Michael P. Brady was charged with drunkenness and assault and battery upon his wife. He pleaded guilty to both charges and after consultation with the court, the husband and wife were placed on probation.

Hyman Fined $2
John B. Hyman, charged with violating a city ordinance in keeping his automobile in Merrimack square, for more than 20 minutes, pleaded guilty and was fined $2, which he paid.

SNATCHED VICTORY

Lowell Team Was There With a Garrison Finish

After practically throwing away the game with Haverhill at Spalding park, Saturday, and making over 2500 people very nervous, Pitcher Tyler suddenly came back in the seventh inning and, with the assistance of his team, snatched a victory at the 11th hour.

It was a Garrison finish all right and only sharp playing by the whole team brought it about. Tyler gave 10 bases on balls and made two wild pitches, all in the six innings, and of the 10, seven were made in two innings.

Mike O'Toole was on the slab for Haverhill, and he allowed only four hits and was steady throughout.

Conney, the Boston National infielder, appeared in a Lowell uniform and showed some class, while Ordway was an improvement on Campbell on third. Fitzpatrick was the first baseman on the Lowell team for by his base running he got two of Lowell's four runs. Fluharty was there with the little two-bagger that brought home the required run.

First Inning
Lowell scored a run in the first inning, but the visitors failed to send a man across the plate. Hagan hit to Fitzpatrick, who fumbled and the runner reached first. Wetzel was out on a fly and Hagan in trying to steal second was nailed. Foulke struck out.

In the latter half of the inning Fitz drew a base on balls and Ordway struck out. Fluharty hit to right field for a single and in trying to make second was caught between the bases. Fitz scoring on the put out. Magee got a single and Conney hit to Wetzel and died at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Second Inning
There was nothing doing in the second inning. Moore drew a base on balls and Noblett was the second man out. Merrill drew a free pass and Fleming hit to Fitz and was out at first.

In the latter half of the inning Jones hit to Wetzel and was out at first. Huston fled to Moore and was second out. Morse hit in front of the plate and was third out.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Third Inning
There were two more good eggs registered in the third inning. Sebastian fled to Morse and O'Toole hit to Fitz and was out at first. Hagan drew a base on balls. Hagan tried to steal second and was thrown out.

In the latter half of the inning Tyler hit to Noblett and was out at first. Fitzpatrick hit to Wetzel and was also out at first. Ordway struck out.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Fourth Inning
In the fourth inning Wetzel fled to Fitzpatrick. Foulke drew a free pass. Two passed balls allowed the runners to go to third. Moore struck out. Noblett drew a base on balls and stole second. Merrill also drew a base on balls, but Fleming struck out.

In the latter half of the inning, Fluharty hit a grounder to O'Toole, and was out at first. Magee fled to O'Toole and Conney struck out.

Score—Lowell 1, Haverhill 0.

Fifth Inning

DIAMOND NOTES
At Lynn today.

Lynn plays here tomorrow.

Conney, the old Haverhill shortstop, who was drafted by the Boston Nationals was in a Lowell uniform Saturday and made a fine impression.

He made a one hand catch of a bad throw that was positively a peach, as he got it in time to get the base runner at second.

Two of Lowell's four runs were made by Fitzpatrick, who showed some classy base running.

Fluharty was there with the little bingle at the right moment.

Huston was playing a great game when he met with an accident, splitting his finger.

Manager Gray announces that he has secured the services of a new outfielder, named Blakeley, who was given a tryout next week. Blakeley came originally from the Houston team in the Texas State league. At the close of last season he stood fifth in the league in batting. Manager Gray was in conversation with President Roberts of the Brooklyn National league team, relative to Blakeley, Saturday, the Brooklyn team holding an option on his services. Blakeley will appear in a Lowell uniform on Tuesday.

The Boston papers are paying all sorts of pretty compliments to Fred Lake while maintaining a dignified silence relative to Patsy Donovan.

Only two home games, this week, Tuesday and Thursday.

Ordway has a good whip, and hence should be a good man on third base.

Al Orth, the ex-New York Highlander, has been released by Indianapolis.

St. Louis gave the Glints a bad beating, knocking the great Mathewson out in the second inning.

Hugh Jennings is not sure that rooting helps a ball team in the long run. The players become accustomed to the rooting on the home grounds and miss it on the road.

Dr. W. A. Brooks' promise that

"BIG CHIEF" BENDER, ATHLETICS' GREAT INDIAN TWIRLER

All hail "Big Chief" Bender, emperor of the 1910 pitchers! To Connie Mack's great Indian twirler goes the achievement of pitching the first no-hit game at Shibe park, Philadelphia, since it was erected; the second no-hit game this season and next to the greatest game pitched in the last season since the day that Cy Young retired twenty-seven Athletic swatters in order on May 4, 1904. Bender retired Cleveland without a hit or run. The only man to reach first was Turner in the fourth inning. He was the third man at bat and walked, but he was quickly retired trying to steal.

No other Nap man reached first except Turner. It was the greatest game of ball pitched under the Mack-American league regime. It was the fifth straight victory of the year for Bender. The Indian is twenty-eight years old and joined the Athletics in 1903. After leaving Carlisle he pitched

Col. Roosevelt Arrived in London
This Morning

LONDON, May 16.—Theodore Roosevelt, special American ambassador to the funeral of King Edward, arrived in London this morning, was received by King George at Marlborough house and later visited the throne room in Buckingham palace where the body of the late monarch is privately lying in state.

The entrance to the city of the distinguished American was a quiet one and in marked contrast with his appearance at other capitals and with what would have been made of the occasion here but for the demise of the British ruler.

It was Whit Monday holiday but despite this fact the popular crowd at Victoria station was a small one. There was no cheering but as Mr. Roosevelt alighted from the train and was escorted by American Ambassador Whitelaw Reid to the royal carriage which had been sent for him those who looked on silently lifted their hats.

The Roosevelt party which included Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt and Kermit left Berlin at noon yesterday and reached London, Holland, last night. They continued upon the regular train to Queensborough, England, where a special train was waiting for them and which preceded the regular express to London and arrived at the Victoria station, still minutes earlier than the regular train which followed at 7:45 o'clock.

The transfer to the special train was quickly made and at 8 o'clock the party proceeded for this city which was reached at 7:30 o'clock. It had been supposed that Mr. Roosevelt would arrive on the regular train and this fact may have accounted in part for the comparatively small crowd at the station.

Upon the station platform awaiting the Roosevelt party were Ambassador Reid, Mrs. Reid, the other members of the American embassy and their wives, all dressed in mourning; Consul General Griffiths and the staff of the consulate; Robert Wynne, former United States consul general at London; Ogden Reid, son of the ambassador and a small group of Americans. There was no music, no waving of flags or other demonstration. When greetings had been exchanged Lord Dundonald escorted the Roosevelts and Ambassador and Mrs. Reid to the royal carriage which had been placed at their disposal by the king and they were driven at once to Dorchester house, the home of the ambassador. Later, accompanied by Mr. Reid, Mr. Roosevelt in the capacity of special American ambassador visited the king at Marlborough house. Following his reception by the monarch he was escorted to Buckingham palace and shown into the throne room where upon the catafalque reposes the body of King Edward. Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied to the palace by Mrs. Roosevelt and the members of the American embassy and their wives. The Victoria station is closely picketed and patrolled by the police. Every entrance and exit is guarded and all applicants for admission are scrutinized. This precaution is taken for the protection of all members of royalty and other official representatives who are coming here for the funeral.

To Archbishop Dentonwill at
C. M. A. C. Hall YesterdayPanic Narrowly Averted When
Floor of Hall Began to Sink
Under Weight of Twice Its
Seating Capacity

So great was the crowd that gathered at C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street, Sunday afternoon, to greet Most Rev. Archbishop Dentonwill of Rome, general of the Oblates, one of the iron trusses supporting the floor gave way and the floor began to sink. It was a moment of terrible suspense and that a panic did not ensue was due to quick action and calmness on the part of Janitor Henri Barry and Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I. The janitor was first to scent the danger and he whispered his fears to Fr. Ouellette. The priest calmly requested the people at the back of the hall and the aisle to leave the hall at once. He told them that the floor was sinking, but that if everyone would leave at once and he knew that it was being more than doubled. He tried to stop the rush but was unable to do so. Then he spoke to Fr. Ouellette and his word of warning was heeded.

Aside from the unrest caused by the accident the reception was a great success and a splendid tribute. Between six and seven thousand people turned out to greet Mgr. Dentonwill, lining Merrimack street from the rectory to C. M. A. C. hall.

At 3 o'clock the prelate drove in an automobile from the rectory to the hall in company with Rev. Fr. Wattelle and other members of the clergy, and escorted by the Garde d'Honneur, the Garde Frontence, the Garde St. Paul and the staff of the A. G. Cadets. On each side of the street, the boys and girls of the parochial schools, bearing flags, formed a long line of honor to the very door of C. M. A. C. hall. Along the way, many houses were decorated with the national colors.

At the hall the presidents of all the French-American Catholic societies were awaiting the archbishop in the reception room, to escort him to the assembly hall, where he took his place upon the stage with Rev. Fr. Wattelle, Rev. Fr. Lefebvre, O. M. I., the venerable dean of the Lowell Oblates; other members of the clergy and the presidents of the organizations represented.

Rev. Fr. Wattelle presented Mgr. Dentonwill as the father of the Oblate family, and thanked the people for this great tribute to the head of a great order. An address to the archbishop from the men of the parish, was then read by Thomas J. Goyette, and a bouquet of 42 roses, representing the years the Oblates have been working here for St. Joseph's parish, was presented him by Captain Joseph L. Lamoureux of the Garde d'Honneur, also in the name of the men of the parish.

Address to Archbishop
The address to the archbishop was as follows:
"We could not express warmly enough the pleasure that your visit and stay here has given us. We regret only one thing, and that is that for lack of time, we have been unable to prepare for your grace a reception worthy of you, and more in harmony with the feelings of gratefulness, which we entertain for the reverend Oblate Fathers, of whom you are the general."

"However, the very spontaneity of this improvised reception is a sign of what we could and would have done to receive you. Since 1868 the date of their coming to us, your children, Monseigneur, have performed works which force the admiration of the whole population and justify the profound gratitude that the French Americans of Lowell feel for them."

"Out of the reverend fathers that your congregation has sent us, some have died in harness, premature victims of their zeal and devotion; others have left us far from us; of all we keep an indelible remembrance. And nothing less than the virtues and true apostolic zeal of those we have now with us, and who now surround your grace, can console us for the disappearance of those who have preceded them."

"These priests we sincerely beseech your grace to keep with us, and to increase their number. We know that the work they have to do is now beyond their strength, and edifying as may be their zeal among us, we do not wish to see them wear themselves out before their time."

"We would not so much insist did we not appreciate the work of the

MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP DENTONWILL OF ROME,

and quietly as requested, all danger might be averted.

Several hundred men filed out quietly and between 100 and 500 people remained in the hall. The capacity of the hall is between 600 and 700 and the crowd when the danger was noted numbered more than 1000.

Had the hall been five times as large it would not have been equal to the occasion, for besides the hundreds that went out when the good priest spoke the word of warning, the streets and approach to the hall were lined with persons anxious to join in the splendid demonstration of regard for the honored general of the Oblates who is at present in this city visiting the local Oblate houses.

A popular reception was improvised for him Saturday by Rev. Fr. Henri Wattelle, O. M. I., the head of the parish, and a call was made for the men of the parish to come to C. M. A. C. hall Sunday afternoon and meet the distinguished visitor.

There was a splendid response to Rev. Fr. Wattelle's invitation. Janitor Henry Barry saw the great crowd making its way to the hall and he quickly realized that there was danger ahead. He knew the seating capacity

Oblates among us, and we beg your grace to consider this insistence on our part as the truest proof of the love and admiration we bear you and your spiritual children."

The Archbishop's Reply

"Your pastor says that there are 30,000 French Canadians in Lowell," said Archbishop Dentonwill in his response to the address, "but I should judge from this afternoon's demonstration that there were a million, and a million, besides, with enough faith and enthusiasm for two million."

"I must congratulate you on your fine societies, which are admirably organized and gratifyingly prosperous. The union of Catholics in such bodies is of great help in preserving their faith, and thus the essential point. Keeping the faith. Material progress is not alone sufficient. The spiritual must come first. The work of your priests is to lead you in that, in making of you men of Catholic faith and action, and the end of Catholic societies is to help the priests accomplish this."

"I say men of Catholic faith and action," for the two, Catholic faith and good citizenship, must be intimately connected. If the Catholic societies do not make better American citizens of you, they fail in their purpose and duty. The church needs you to show that the terms 'Catholic' and 'citizen' are two which can be linked into one to its greatest honor."

The reverend speaker varied the serious part of his discourse with flashes of wit which quite captivated his audience. After the conclusion of his speech, he pronounced a benediction upon the whole assembly.

After the reception, a solemn benediction service was sung by the archbishop at St. Jean Baptiste church, especially for the women of the parish. He was assisted by Rev. Fr. Wattelle as deacon and Rev. Fr. Brullard as sub-deacon. The church was filled with women. Addressing them briefly before the service, the archbishop urged them above all to influence the men to come to church.

The women who, under the direction of Dr. Caisse, sang at the service, "Veni Creator" and "Tantum Ergo," were sung, and Miss Anna Bourassa sang in a delightful manner an "O Salutaris," by Mme. Arthur J. Martel, at the organ, played with much harmony, before the service. "In Paradisum," "Te Deum," by Lepold, and "Marche Religieuse," by Tours-Calkin, and after the service the march from Meyerbeer's "Prophet."

THE ARMENIANS

TALK OF FORMING A CHURCH IN LOWELL

The Armenians of Lowell held special services in St. John's Episcopal church yesterday afternoon, at which eleven infants were baptized by Rev. S. Tashjian of Boston.

A feature of the service was the reading of a special message from the head of the Armenian church in Russia by Mr. D. Manoukian of Lowell. The writer of the message urged the people of Armenia now in America to respect all American laws, and show by such respect that they are not only good citizens, but are loyal members of the church. The importance of learning the English language was also emphasized.

At the close of the services, a number of representative Armenians discussed the question of forming a church in Lowell, and holding monthly meetings. This was believed to be feasible, and a meeting will probably be held in the future to take the necessary steps to this end.

"MOTHERS' DAY"

At the First Baptist Church

There was a large attendance at the service appropriate to "Mothers' day" at the First Baptist church Sunday night. The service was under the auspices of the Baraca class, of young men, 70 of whom sat in a body in the front seats of the church. All these young men and many others present wore white flowers in remembrance of the mothers departed, or pink flowers in honor of the mothers living.

Baptism of two persons by the pastor, Rev. S. W. Cummings, opened the service. The music all related to the theme of the day. A quartet of ladies sang "As One His Mother Comforteth," a mixed quartet sang "My Mother's Prayer." The whole choir of 60 voices sang "Mother's Prayer Saved Me," and Mrs. W. H. Peplin sang "Backward Turn Backward, O Time in Thy Flight." Mr. Cummings spoke on "Memories of Home." He spoke of the appointment of Memorial day as a day of national observance, and expressed satisfaction that a day in the month of May is coming into wide observance all over the country as Mothers' day.

The pastor's new assistant, Mr. A. S. Woodworth, was with the church yesterday and was given a cordial welcome. In the Baraca class, the attendance in the Sunday school was 61.

Rev. Mr. Cummings and Mrs. Cummings and Mr. W. W. Buzzell, president of the Baraca class, are to be in the delegation to start in a special New England train at 9:15 on Wednesday morning to attend the world's Sunday school convention in Washington, D. C., May 19-24. Rev. Dr. Blackburn is to preach next Sunday in the place of Mr. Cummings.

PATRICK LYONS QUITS MINISTRY

Fell Into Canal in Jackson
Street

Patrick Lyons, aged 42, of Chapel street, owes his life to a dramatic Sunday night watchman at the Lowell Machine shop. Lyons fell into the canal in Jackson street late Saturday night. He took a drop of about 25 feet and landed in about two feet of water. The canal had been drawn off, but there were pools here and there and Patrick found one of the pools. Lyons was stunned by the fall and when he came to be cried feebly for help. His cries were heard by Sweeney and he didn't take him long to locate Lyons. Sweeney couldn't do anything alone and he went looking for help. He found Patrolman Sheridan, Clerk, who was escorted them to the scene. Lyons was then unable to talk and was pulled out of the canal with ropes. He sustained a bad cut on the back of his head and was more or less bruised. He was taken to the police station, where he was booked on a charge of drunkenness.

Clergyman Says He Will
Enter Business

CHICAGO, May 16.—With a parting defense of his stand and a declaration that he would "die rather than be narrow, bigoted and unprogressive," the Rev. Donald McLaughlin gave his last sermon at the Second Baptist church yesterday. He said later he was through with the ministry and would enter business. In his sermon one passage stood out strongly. "A clergyman of today," he said, "should not be held responsible for the diabolism of the sixteenth century. We were hidden to grow in grace and in knowledge and I do not believe anyone has yet exhausted the supply of either. A man may have a new vision or he may have an old one from a new angle."

whether he shared the university professor's belief. He called the act of the conference a "usurpation of authority" and after an unsuccessful fight against the ruling himself withdrew.

BOILERS EXPLODE

Three Men Killed and Six Injured

PITTSBURGH, May 16.—A battery of five boilers exploded at the plant of the Diamond Coal and Coke Co., at Chewtown, yesterday, killing three men, six others, including employees and residents in houses nearby, were injured, but none will die. The dead are: WILLIAM ADAMSON, electrical engineer. PETER WALSH and EARL DOVARD. The cause of the explosion is unknown. Several houses were shaken from their foundations. Others were punctured by pieces of boiler metal and three were burned as a result of the accident. The loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

LIFE-SAVING APPLIANCE FOR PATROL WAGONS.

Neither our police nor fire patrol is equipped with the oxygen appliance for the resuscitation of people overcome by gas or smoke. It is a safety appliance that may save life in certain emergencies such as occurred recently in Pittsburg when an unconscious man was kept alive until the hospital was reached and more effective measures taken. It might prove useful if installed on the new auto fire patrol.

BETTER STREET SIGNS NEEDED.

Since the automobile has become so common on the public highway it is more necessary to have clear and legible street signs. Anybody who passes through the streets of Lowell will notice that it is very difficult for a stranger to find his way through the city on account of the lack of proper street signs. It is a fact that perhaps not more than half the street corners even along some of the principal streets give any indication of the names of the adjoining streets. It is a very common thing to find automobile parties losing their way in passing through our city for this very reason. It is a matter that should be remedied without delay by the street department.

FOR A PARADE ROUTE.

The Chamber of Commerce in Boston is advocating a public parade route, one that will serve sufficiently for all societies that want to make a fine showing and that will at the same time permit those who do not care to join in the parade, to continue their business. The aim is to prevent a suspension of business on the principal thoroughfares during the progress of a parade that may require four or five hours to cover its route. The suggestion is very sensible, and if the parade route were settled the people would then know just where to see the procession and how to avoid it if they didn't want to see it. There will come a time when the same idea will be applicable to Lowell.

AS TO RAISING THE MAINE.

There has been a whole lot of talk about raising the hulk of the lost battleship Maine from its position in Havana harbor. The government is negotiating with Cuba at the present time for permission to raise the wreck. A good many people are of the opinion that the hulk may have gone to pieces before this time, but even so let us get the pieces. There is a sentiment in favor of raising the remains of this now historic vessel and it may as well be satisfied now as later on. We surmise that even at this late day the wreck would reveal some gruesome results of the terrible explosion by which the vessel and so many human lives were sacrificed.

SCHOOLS MUST TEACH THRIFT.

The legislature has passed a law making it compulsory to teach the subject of thrift in the public schools. This is a new branch to be added to the school curriculum. The question is, who will teach this branch, how it will be taught, when and what text books will be used? It is a subject upon which a great deal may be said and much that is of a general nature may be found in literature, such for example as Franklin's "Poor Richard" and other articles. The course of studies in the schools has already been sufficiently burdened with extraneous branches without adding any more. It would be well for the school board before adding this branch to cut out a few of the non-essentials. We believe the system of school banks conducted in some of the schools might furnish all the instruction needed on that subject.

THE THEATRICAL TRUST.

It is announced that a theatrical syndicate has been formed in New York that will prevent to a very great extent the engagement of one night stands by theatrical companies. If any syndicate undertakes to prevent freedom of contract in such matters it should be proceeded against as a trust. It is a well known fact that the best companies can seldom play more than one night in many of the cities of average size. It is only the cheap companies, those with the poor shows that can run for a week in the average city. The case is different of course with Boston, New York or the other metropolitan centres. If the city of Lowell is to be deprived of seeing good shows which can be seen only in one night stands then something should be done to remedy the evil. There is a field for independent theatres that will not be controlled by the New York syndicate.

FOR REGULAR STREETS.

The Board of Trade will render a valuable service to the city if it succeeds in securing some regularity in the streets that are to be laid out in new territory to connect with the main thoroughfares from the centre of our city. In the past the rule has been that every property owner who had land sufficient to divide up into streets cut it up not with a view to the direction of the streets or their convenience from a public standpoint, but to make the most of the land and to leave as little as possible under public streets.

The result naturally was that the streets were irregular in direction and in width and usually too narrow. In spite of this, however, the city accepted the streets and kept them in fair condition once they had been rough graded and built upon. Any plan that will abolish this absurd mode of laying out our city streets in such a crazy quilt is planned will benefit our city as a whole. If the future growth of the city is to be regular and symmetrical it will help in a great degree to atone for the opposite qualities in the streets around the centre of the city.

SEEN AND HEARD

A man who sat up Wednesday night till 3 o'clock to see the comet says that it is double.

You can't be sure that a man has got his cheeks and the backs of his hands tanned by hard work in the garden. He may only have been sitting on the bleachers.

Only think how much time Mr. Rockefeller saves every year by not having any hair to brush!

The comet's tail has been scientifically studied by the astronomers and found to be full of gases, like the average stump speech.

It is very hard indeed to love your neighbor as yourself, when the old carmudgeon refuses to lend you his lawnmower when you need it.

Nearly all pianos have locks, but unfortunately in the apartment houses they are very seldom used.

Another difference between the theorist and the practical man is that the practical man doesn't waste any time thinking how he can manage to make poetry pay.

"Habit is a cable! We weave a thread of it each day until it becomes so strong we are unable to break it."

"The misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come."

"Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with year by year."

"Go not abroad for happiness. For, see!

It is a flower that blossoms by thy door;

Bring love and justice home; and then no more

Thou'lt wonder in what dwelling joy may be."

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessing.

CHARITY
If I were a breeze of Nature's making, Freighted with coolness and scent and dew, I never would set the tall trees shaking. Or blow through the meadows the summer through.
But I'd leave the green, and, for very pity, Would lift my burden of dainty scents And straightway fly to the crowded city Among the heat of the tenements.

And I'd find some poor little, pale little child there, Who never had known the sea or skies, And I'd kiss her lips till I left a smile there, And another look in her tired eyes.

And I'd bring her the breath of the great waves breaking on open plain Till she would forget that her brow was aching, And lift up her poor little head again.

Now don't you think this the nicest way, dear, For a breeze to act, beyond word or doubt? Because—there's a moral tucked away here, If only your eyes could find it out.

—Theodosia Garrison.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Commencing with the matinee today, there will be a complete change of program, both of pictures and vaudeville, and another of the excellent bills being presented at the Opera House will be given. New and novel features are being constantly selected for the Opera House and the coming week's program will furnish its quota. The Eretto Bros., European gymnasts and head and hand balancers, will be seen as well as The Durands in a laughable comedy, singing and dancing sketch, "The Surprise"; Mario Camilla, slugging violinist; Eva Medora, vocalist, and a fine series of the latest in the motion picture line, including a biograph picture, will complete one of the best bills of the season. Tuesday night will be amateur night as usual, and a fine line of amateur talent will be an added feature of the program. Matinees are given every day at the Opera House from 2 to 5 and two full shows are given at 8 night, starting at 7 and 8.30. Prices are five and ten cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today the Theatre Voyons shows the real Roosevelt, who is traveling through Europe and making all nations sit up and take notice. Teddy was photographed in the jungles, but not till he got to Cairo did the photographer get a good shot at him. This picture shows Roosevelt in every form and really represents the active, alert man whom the Americans love. Another picture that will make a big impression is a Pathe production of Cleopatra, elaborately staged and acted in way that will make everyone watch it from start to finish. There is also a sterling dramatic subject, the bill as well as funny comedy. The musical program is the equal of any.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Ever on the alert for the best attractions, the management of the Academy of Music offers for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as headliners Keady and Adams in their great Irish comedy sketch, and Van Camp with his trained pig, which furnishes no end of laughter for everybody. The pictures have been carefully selected and the biograph will be one of the best pictures ever shown. Miss Claudia Rosselle will sing new illustrated songs, and travelogues of the different countries will be shown. The prices remain the same, 5 and 10 cents.

EMPIRE THEATRE

An entirely new and thoroughly good show opened at the Empire today. With all new pictures, both of a comedy and dramatic character, the bill which is being presented will make the patrons as one of the best of the season. The attractions are of a class as good as any heretofore shown and the management feels safe in assuring theatregoers of complete satisfaction with every number.

The Academy Trio present a combination act of superb juggling, and are marvelous acrobats. They are equally as good as other acts of this sort already seen at the Empire and made a great hit with the capacity houses.

Tom Bateman is the original dancing sailor. He brings with him a refreshing recollection of the sea and its frolics, introducing the dancing specialties of the sailors in a remarkably clever manner, pleasing the house with every effort and making a big hit. He dances some of the most difficult dances, but in the end going away, that while it makes the dance less difficult, yet to the people who can judge they will readily see that he is an expert.

The pictures are as good as ever with a biograph feature and comedy subjects that are the best. Mr. Charles Rogers will again render a new illustrated song and is sure to please his many friends.

STAR THEATRE

The Wolgast-Nelson fight pictures drew large crowds at the Star theatre this afternoon and those who attended declared that the pictures were the best of that kind ever exhibited in Lowell. A lecturer explained everything from the time the show started with the fighters in their training quarters. The action is shown with the thousands of sports who paid from $5 to $25 to see the contest. Before the fight started, the promoters introduced several famous sporting men and prize fighters. When the first round started the spectators settled back in their seats to witness a reproduction of the fiercest prize fight in ring history. All eyes were alert to catch every move Wolgast and Nelson made, and everybody saw the sturdy Al Wolgast fight and fight, never backing away from the always aggressive Nelson. They saw the exchange of punches, neither man being willing to stall. Finally they saw the plucky and younger Wolgast outfight the older and gamest, the only Battling Nelson. And many in the audience sighed a sigh of sadness when they watched Battling Nelson's gestures of protest against stopping the fight. It was the pictures they saw, but they were realistic enough to make one think he was at the ring-side.

The attraction will be at the Star theatre for three days and it is anticipated that thousands will see the pictures Tuesday and Wednesday. It is brought to Lowell as one of an early state under big expense, but Lowell sports can get a line on the two men before they clash again.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

HON. JOHN E. REDMOND INVITED TO LOWELL

Rev. Dr. Keleher Believes Irish Struggle Will Soon End in Triumphant Victory—Convention to Be Held in Buffalo

The United Irish league had a largely attended meeting in A. O. H. hall last evening with a very sensible address by Rev. Dr. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church. In the absence of President Bourke, Mr. E. J. Gallagher presided and during the business meeting it was announced that the biennial convention would be held in Buffalo, N. Y., in September, and that Messrs. Redmond, T. P. O'Connor and Joseph Devlin would attend to represent the Irish party. It was voted to invite Mr. Redmond to speak in Lowell during his visit to this country in September.

REV. DR. KELEHER, Pastor St. Peter's Church

Rev. Dr. Keleher was very warmly greeted on being presented to the audience. In opening he referred to his recollection of the Fenian days when as a boy he witnessed the departure of military companies for the Canadian border. Those men were willing to lay down their lives for the old land in the cause of freedom as did thousands and thousands of brave men during the dark struggles of Ireland's history. Were it any other race but the Irish it would have been completely exterminated, but in the face of persecution, landlord oppression and exploitation, the people of Ireland struggled on, and when they found they could not meet the army, navy and the gold of England, the wiser friends of the cause turned to the most practical method of righting Ireland's wrongs, and what has been gained since the days of the great O'Connell bears testimony to the efficacy of that method which was never more potent than today.

"I am here tonight," said the speaker, "on account of the deep interest I feel in the cause of Ireland. Your committee has requested me to say a few words of encouragement. Under ordinary circumstances I could do so easily and with all my heart, but events have been moving so rapidly and so much in Ireland's favor that you are all so familiar with the present very promising outlook.

"The friends of Ireland in America have adopted the wise policy of co-operation with the leaders of the Irish people at home. It is not theirs to dictate but to help by moral and financial means.

"What with the cable bringing to us the statement of one of the most tried leaders of the Irish people, that the late King Edward was the greatest of modern monarchs and the greatest Englishman, while another great leader states that now for the first time since the English invasion can the people of Ireland sincerely lay a wreath on the bier of a dead English ruler. Whilst again we are informed that the new king is deeply touched by the resolutions of condolence adopted at every public meeting in Ireland, we are brought to realize that a vast change is taking place.

"We are told at the same time that this has produced a great effect in England, especially on the king, who at the present moment speaks more warmly of Ireland than any other country, and doubtless is inspired by the same desire as his father, to remove during his reign this great weakness of Imperial strength, and prestige and dynastic solidity. With this comes the statement that by prudence and tact Ireland may find this one of the most propitious moments in her history.

"It seems to me that it is our province to watch, work and wait. We can trust the tried and faithful leaders who have carried on an unparalleled struggle with such grand results for the last 30 years. My sympathy and my aid have gone out to them because they have done things, because through their unflinching, persistent and honest efforts the condition of Ireland today is better than at any time for hundreds of years. And the prospects are never so bright, the great battle for home rule will soon end in triumphant victory."

Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., spoke at some length on the bright outlook and urged continued work for the cause through support of the parliamentary party.

The musical program included a very fine piano solo by Mr. Hamill Byron, who won much applause by his rendition of Irish airs, "Andrew A. McCarthy, the popular baritone, sang "Ireland, I Love You," and was enthusiastically cheered.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Takes a Hand in the Ballinger-Pinchot Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President

Taft, in person, last night took a hand in the situation which has arisen concerning the "inside" history of his letter of Sept. 13, exonerating Secretary Ballinger from the charges of Special Agent L. R. Glavis and authorizing the dismissal of Glavis.

Over his own signature he addressed a long letter to Senator Knute Nelson, chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, setting forth in detail the sequence of events after his receipt at Beverly on Aug. 18th last of the charges by Glavis.

The president makes no direct mention of the statement of Frederick M. Kerby, the young stenographer in Secretary Ballinger's office, published Saturday, in which Kerby said that the president's letter of exoneration was prepared in Mr. Ballinger's office by Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney general for the interior department. This explanation by Mr. Taft was obviously provoked by Kerby's statement, however.

Mr. Taft says not only that Lawler did prepare such a letter as Kerby said he did, but that he did so at the president's specific direction. When he received it he found it was not what he wanted to issue, and he wrote the letter in the form he desired, using from Lawler's draft only one or two general statements.

The president goes still further and takes up the question of the "back channel" of Attorney General Wickersham's summary of the Glavis charges, to which Attorney Louis D. Brandeis has drawn attention. Mr. Taft says that the attorney general's letter was in fact "back dated" and that this also was done by his specific direction.

Following is the full text of the president's letter:

The President's Letter
The White House, Washington,
May 15, 1910.

My Dear Senator Nelson: In the hearings before the committee to investigate the interior department and forestry service, reference has been made to my decision upon the complaint and charges of L. R. Glavis, filed with me on the 18th of August last against Secretary Ballinger and certain other officials of the interior department. The majority of the committee has decided that my action in this regard was within the jurisdiction of the committee to investigate, in spite of this ruling reference to the matter have crept into the record. For this reason I deem it proper to write you and state with such accuracy as my memory permits what the facts are.

Glavis' statement and charges were left with me by him on Aug. 18, 1908. I turned them over to the attorney general, who happened to be in the neighborhood, and he made notes upon his reading. We both had personal knowledge in respect to Secretary Ballinger's attitude toward the Alaska coal claims, which was the chief subject of Glavis' statement. I was, I believe, very early in the administration consulted by both in regard to them.

Within two or three days after the filing of the charges, in a meeting at which the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general and the secretary of the navy were present, a full discussion of the Glavis statement was had. It resulted in a general conclusion that jealousy between the bureau of the interior department and the forestry bureau probably explained the attitude of the interior department officials, but that the intimations of the statement were submitted to them for answer. Accordingly copies of the statement were sent to Secretary Ballinger, to Assistant Secretary Nathan to Commissioner Bennett, and to Chief of Field Service Schwartz.

Mr. Ballinger was at Seattle, upon receipt of the charges he came to Washington to prepare his answer. On Monday, September 8th, Mr. Ballinger reached Beverly, accompanied by Mr. Lawler, the assistant attorney general of the department of justice, assigned to the interior department. Mr. Ballinger sent to my house on that day the answers of the various persons concerned, together with a voluminous record of exhibits. I had a conference with him, the evening of the day he came, September 8th, and then on the following evening, September 9th, I talked over the charges with Mr. Ballinger the first evening and asked such questions as suggested themselves, without intimating any conclusion, and said that I would examine the answers and the record and would see him the next day. I sat up until 3 o'clock that night reading the answers and exhibits; so that at my next conference I was advised of the contents of the entire record and had made up my mind that there was nothing in the charges upon which Mr. Ballinger or the others accused could be found guilty of either incompetency, inefficiency, disloyalty to the interests of the government or dishonesty.

In the discussions of the second evening Mr. Lawler, who was present at my suggestion, discussed the evidence at some length. I said to Mr. Lawler that I was very anxious to get out a full statement of the case and set out the reasons for my decision, but that the time for my departure on a long western trip, occupying two months, was just one week from that day; that I had six or seven set speeches to deliver at the beginning of that journey, and that I could not give the time to the preparation of such a detailed statement and opinion as I would like to render in the matter. I therefore, requested Mr. Lawler to prepare an opinion as if he were present.

During the 8th, 9th and 10th I gave such consideration to the Glavis record and as was consistent with previous engagements, but paid no attention to the speeches. On the 9th I telegraphed the attorney general to come to Beverly in order that I might consult him in respect to the case. He arrived there Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11th, and, pursuant to an appointment made by telephone, he came to my house early on Sunday morning, Sept. 12th. He then delivered to me the draft opinion prepared by Mr. Lawler and said that he had had an opportunity on coming from New York to read the answers of Mr. Ballinger and others. I then said to him that I had made up by mind as to my conclusions and had drafted part of my opinion, but that I wished him to examine the full record and bring me his conclusions before I started mine. He took the whole record away.

During the day I examined the draft opinion of Mr. Lawler, but its thirty pages did not state the case in the way in which I wished stated. It contained references to the evidence which were useful, but its criticism of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis I did not think it proper or wise to adopt. I only used a few paragraphs from it containing merely general statements.

The attorney general returned in the evening with notes of the examination in which I had made, and reported to me the conclusions which he had reached, which were in substantial accord with my own. We then discussed the matter at some length, particularly from points of law which were involved, and took up the opinion which I had drafted and made a number of alterations and as a result of that discussion I determined the final form which I employed and signed the same on Monday, Sept. 13th.

The conclusions which I reached were based upon my reading of the record and were fortified by the oral analysis of the evidence and the conclusions which the attorney general gave me, using the notes which he made during his reading of the record. I am very sorry not to be able to embody this analysis in my opinion, but time did not permit. I therefore directed him to embody in a written statement such analysis and conclusions as he had given me, file it in the record and date it prior to the date of my opinion, so as to show that my decision was fortified by his summary of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom. Sincerely yours,

William H. Taft.

Hon. Knute Nelson, Chairman, Committee to Investigate the Interior Department and Forestry Service, United States Senate.

TRADE WITH THE PHILIPPINES
Trade of the United States with the Philippines during the first 8 months of the new tariff law, which permits interchange of practically all articles free of duty, shows a marked improvement. The total value of exports to the Philippines during the period from August 1, 1909, to March 31, 1910, of which period all but the first five days of August was under the new tariff law, amounted to $114 million dollars, against 7 million in the corresponding period of the preceding year, and the imports from the Philippines in the same period amounted to $124 million dollars, against 62 million in the corresponding months of last year, the imports from those islands have practically doubled and the exports thereto increased about 66 per cent when compared with the corresponding period of last year.

The growth in imports, chiefly in sugar, cigars, fruits and nuts, Manila hemp and other fibers, hats of straw or similar fiber, household effects, manufactures of silk, manufactures of wood, and manufactures of iron and steel, manufactures of leather, manufactures of wool, manufactures of wood, automobiles, chemicals, cordage, electrical appliances, electrical machinery, steel rails, firearms, iron sheets and plates, boots and shoes, harness and saddles, paints, paper and manufactures thereof, soap, wines, distilled spirits, flour, meat and dairy products, canned salmon, leaf tobacco, plug tobacco, lumber and furniture.

VAN CLEAVE IS DEAD

Former Head of Association of Manufacturers

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—J. W. Van Cleave, ex-president of the National Association of Manufacturers, died of heart disease at his home here yesterday.

Mrs. Van Cleave, formerly Miss Katharine Jefferson of Louisville, Ky., two sons, Harry and Benton, and only daughter, Mrs. Edith Fisher of Memphis, Tenn., were at the bedside when the end came. Another son, Gyles B. Van Cleave, resides at Louisville, and Lee is in New York city.

As president of the National Association of Manufacturers, James W. Van Cleave of St. Louis became the central figure in the fight between the manufacturers who favored the open shop and the labor organizations, which led to the conviction of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Secretary Morrison for contempt of the supreme court of the district of Columbia.

The fight began several years ago, through the publication of the Budget and Range company, of which he was president, in the list of "unfair" shops.

The publication was made for some time in the Federalist, the organ of the American Federation of Labor, issued in Washington, and a petition for an injunction was brought before the justice of the district court, Justice Ashley M. Gould presiding.

Far Reaching Campaign

Some time before the case was tried it was publicly announced that the National Association of Manufacturers had determined to spend $1,000,000 to carry on a fight for open shops and to put down strikes and boycotts. Able attorneys were hired to prosecute the fight for the manufacturers' side of the controversy and to bring before the courts capitalists and workmen who would go outside of what the association considered their rights to imperil the tranquility of industry.

President Van Cleave was put in charge of the affair, and at his suggestion trained writers and orators were hired and committees appointed to appear before congress to carry on a campaign of education from the manufacturers' standpoint.

Mr. Van Cleave, in an interview given about this time said that he "fights with an ax" and in his warfare upon the labor organizations and their chief aims showed that he meant to kill labor unionism if possible.

In August, 1907, Mr. Van Cleave filed a suit in equity in the district of Columbia court asking for a permanent injunction restraining the official publication of the American Federation of Labor from publishing the names of its store company among the list of "unfair" shops.

Later a supplemental bill was filed, charging that the federation was pressuring the boycott, and a temporary injunction was asked prohibiting the printing of the boycott, and on Dec. 17, 1907, Justice Gould granted the temporary injunction.

The Federationist continued to carry the names of the St. Louis company in its list, and Congress, Mitchell and Morrison, its president, vice president and secretary, respectively, of the American Federation of Labor were tried and convicted on a charge of contempt.

Born in Kentucky

Beside holding the presidency of his manufacturing company and that of the National Association of Manufacturers, Mr. Van Cleave was also president and one of the most active workers of the Citizens Industrial Association of America, formed to further "the policy of a protective tariff, liberal in scope and need of protection, from foreign competition the benefit of schedules ample to accomplish this purpose."

On April 21 of last year he resigned

the presidency of the National Association of Manufacturers, when John Kirby, Jr., was elected president of the body. Mr. Van Cleave was given a demonstration, and the new president pledged himself to carry out the policies Mr. Van Cleave had begun.

James Wallace Van Cleave was born in Marion county, Ky., on July 12, 1849. He was the son of Henry Miller and Eliza Jones (Burks) Van Cleave. He was educated at Springfield, Ky., and served in the confederate army under Gen. John H. Morgan from 1862-1865. On March 22, 1871, he married Katie L. Jefferson at Louisville, Ky.

He began the manufacture of stoves in 1867. He was a member of the Presbyterian church, and in politics was a republican. Besides his business organizations he was a member of the Mercantile club and the Glen Echo Country club.

THE DAY NURSERY

Fair Closed With Dancing Party

The closing day of the Day Nursery festival was as successful as those that preceded, insuring a good financial result. The entertainment in the afternoon, which included a Punch and Judy show given by Mr. Galloway, drew large numbers of children, who literally captured the hall, and had the time of their lives. Another enjoyable feature of the entertainment was fancy dancing by the pupils of Miss L. Blanche Perrin. The numbers were as follows:

Ronny dance, Stella Maloney, Alice Gilligan, Anna McCashin; the butterfly, Ruth R. Fenwick; niggerheads, Earl Ireland and Douglas Walker; Pierrot dance, Anna McCashin and Stella Maloney; Lotus dance, Stella Maloney.

A very pretty dance was the minuet by Alice Gilligan and little Miss Story, pupils of Miss Perrin.

General dancing in the evening closed the festival. The managers are much indebted to Miss Perrin and to Mr. F. C. Blunt, who directed the dancing and the music in the opera. The floral arches, which contributed so much to the beauty of the stage setting were planned and executed under the direction of Mrs. Julian Talbot.

Among those who did much toward the success of the fair by their work in assisting at the apron table were Mrs. Henry L. Rourke, Mrs. Edward D. Korwin, Mrs. William P. Barry, Mrs. George M. Harrigan, Mrs. Richard Donoghue, Mrs. Frank Donoghue, Mrs. P. McDermott, Miss Alice Murphy and Miss Rose Dwyer.

Daniel F. Carroll was another who was one of the leading factors in the success of this most successful event. During the preparation for the event, and during the fair itself, he worked unceasingly many hours a day for its success, a fact highly appreciated by the committee in charge.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

TO LIEUT. ALBERT JEAN OF GARDE D'HONNEUR

The members of Garde d'Honneur pleasantly surprised their popular second lieutenant, Albert E. Jean, at C. M. A. C. hall yesterday afternoon, presenting him a chest of silver, knives, forks and spoons. Lieut. Jean is to be married Wednesday at home to the gift. Capt. Joseph Lamoureux presented the gift, which was an unusually handsome one, besides a genuine surprise for Mr. Jean. The presentation was made in the name of the military commission of the C. M. A. C., as well as in that of the Garde d'Honneur.

After Mr. Jean had expressed his pleasure and gratitude, there was an inspection of the guard by the military commission, and seven medals were awarded to members for a clean slate of attendance during the year. The winners were Sergeants Emile Bordenave and Louis St. Jean, Corporals Joseph Souard, Abraham Masson and Arthur Lussier, and Privates Joseph Barry and Wm. Lussier. Rev. Fr. Wattelle, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Denzot, O. M. I., of Tewksbury, and Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I., were present and made remarks.

We appreciate the small account—The Old Lowell National Bank.

"JIM" JEFFRIES

Watched by a Great Crowd While Training

BEN LOMOND, Cal., May 16.—The crowd that journeyed here from Frisco yesterday to see Jeff in his announced public Sabbath workout learned that the former champion is an exceedingly timid man.

All his years in the ring have not worn off the shyness Jeff early evinced when called on to perform in public. Before the big fellow showed up in the gymnasium yesterday one of his camp companions remarked: "Jeff would give a hundred dollars if he could get out of being the crowd this afternoon."

And the truth of the assertion was attested by the fighter's subsequent behavior. When he began skipping the rope he kept his face to the wall and his back to the spectators, and when he started his shadow boxing he stood in a corner as far removed from curious eyes as possible.

THE REFEREE QUESTION

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—When representatives of the rival fight camps assemble here tomorrow for the settlement of the question of a referee they will face what is regarded as a delicate situation. The controversy over the third man in the ring seems to be as far from settlement as ever and as a result Promoters Richard and Gleason express much concern over the outcome of today's proceedings.

HALLEY'S COMET

Astronomers Planning for Its Passage

BOSTON, May 16.—Halley's comet will be greeted Wednesday, on its closest approach to the earth, by a brilliant array of telescopes, flanked by rapid lenses in the astronomers' cameras. The observers are prepared for the phenomenon, and elaborate calculations have been made as to the minute and second the comet will be at a given place in the heavens.

Among the scientists there is some difference of opinion as to the effect the comet will have upon the earth, but the differences are minor. A shower of meteorites is expected by some and others, apparently in the majority, expect no disturbances at all.

The comet has monopolized all celestial attentions of late, but when it approaches nearest the earth on May 18, the moon will be full, and the moon's rays will make observations of the comet difficult. The heavenly visitor will increase in apparent size and brilliancy until Wednesday, when it will begin to decrease and in a few weeks will disappear into space for nearly a century.

Prof. Wilson of Harvard college says: "There may be a shower of charged particles, very small and numerous which may affect wireless telegraphy. There is no cause for alarm or fear. Cyanogen exists only near the comet's head and the tail is a good vacuum."

Prof. Todd of Amherst has declared that there will be no more sensation than that caused by the rays of light from a distant candle on a person's hand. There is an equal amount of cyanogen gas radiated from each proportionately, he says. Leon Campbell, another of the Harvard astronomers, thinks a luminous display probable.

At Harvard university yesterday the body, with a coma or envelope was estimated to have reached zero magnitude nearly the highest stage of stellar brilliancy. The rates of increase in fiery development is indicated by two photometric measurements taken, the first, on May 6, showing the nucleus to be of 7.66 magnitude, and another on Friday, just a week later, showing the magnitude to be 4.4.

Granted First Licenses Under "Bar and Bottle" Bill

The famous "Bar and Bottle" bill, much discussed during the past three months, certainly went into effect with a vengeance today and in consequence two local establishments are more or less affected and they are P. H. Barry, 220 and 222 Suffolk street, granted a first class license, and Laurent Grenon & Benjamin K. Gilpatrick, 363-370 Moody street.

This is the first city to be affected by the new law and the local board of police this morning had to act under the provisions of the measure. Therefore Mr. Barry and Grenon & Co. were simply granted but one license each, and that of the first class, as the new law provides that but one license can be granted to an individual or a concern, so that these two concerns will have to satisfy themselves with selling intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises. They cannot sell liquors to be carried away either in cans or bottles, while those who were fortunate enough to be granted their licenses previous to the second day of May will enjoy both privileges, and will operate both the first and fourth class licenses.

In April, 1909, Mr. Barry was granted a license at 220-222 Suffolk street, and this year he applied for a license in upper Broadway, near the corner of Mt. Vernon street. Objections were made; and a hearing granted. Then CHICAGO, May 16.—Captain Oberlin Carter announced here today that he had filed with the supreme court of the United States a petition for rehearing in the case in which he was held guilty of defrauding the government. Captain Carter alleges that the supreme court was misled by perjured testimony.

Carter in his petition sets forth that there was no evidence to show that Westcott, alleged to have been a secret partner of Greene and Gaynor, was the agent of Carter "save the manufacture of exhibits of Edward Israel Johnson, an accountant employed by the prosecution, who admittedly knew nothing of his own knowledge and whom the trial court found guilty in this very connection in a number of instances of swindling to 'forced butances' i. e. of committing perjury. . . . this witness was not only shielded but is still carried on the government payroll."

The petition is largely devoted to an attempt to show that the court erred in attributing the ownership of certain bonds to Carter when he alleges that they belonged to Westcott.

In the concluding paragraph of the document Captain Carter apologizes for any irregularities of phraseology which may be found as the petition was prepared by himself.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The mystery of the disappearance of coupons of an estimated value of $5000, the loss of which was reported to the police early in April by Capulo Bros., was cleared yesterday when members of that brokerage firm reported that the valuable papers, after having been thrown into a waste basket and carried to the waterworks of a dealer in waste paper, had been recovered.

The coupons, a dozen in number, had been received by the brokers from a foreign client, and on the day of their arrival they disappeared. A few days later a man employed in a warehouse found the coupons, but, deeming them of no value, put them aside.

Henry Metz entered the warehouse to get some foreign postage stamps, periodically collected by the employees of the firm, for a consideration. The finder of the coupons called Metz's attention to the papers and offered them to him for the "price of a couple of beers." Metz paid 10 cents and took the coupons.

When he called upon a broker friend he produced two of the coupons. The broker kept them for several days and then announced that he had sold them for $50 each. Metz offered the others for sale at the same price, but meanwhile Capulo Bros. heard of the transaction. A meeting with Metz was arranged, at which the remaining coupons were delivered and Metz given a reward.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Another province is one of the most wealthy and important in all China. The province of the province have long been noted for their anti-foreign sentiment and for their bravery in battle.

The proposed line of railroad from Hankow south runs directly through this province and it is believed, that the disturbed conditions there will stimulate the Chinese authorities to their best effort to secure the construction of this road at as early a date as possible, as upon its completion the government will be in a position to rush troops to the distracted sections in case of formidable uprisings.

THE KING'S BODY

Official Program for Its Removal

LONDON, May 16.—The official program for the removal of the body of the late King Edward from Buckingham palace to Westminster hall next Tuesday was issued last night. It shows that the removal will be attended by a military spectacle only less impressive and imposing than the funeral itself.

Following the casket, drawn on a gun-carriage, will walk King George, the royal princes and all the kings and queens, together with the members of the late king's household, the lords and gentlemen in waiting, and the queen mother's household. Then will come a procession of nine carriages, with the queen mother and all the imperial and royal ladies.

Upon arrival at Westminster hall the late king's company of the Grenadier guards, who will have charge of the casket throughout the ceremony, will place the body upon the catafalque for lying in state.

Bishop of Canterbury will conduct the services, after which the public lying in state will begin.

The details of the funeral day's ceremony are still incomplete, but it has been decided that blue jackets will draw the gun-carriage with the coffin at Windsor, where the last solemn service will be held.

King George, Queen Mary, the queen mother and the royal family were present last night at a solemn service over the body in the throne room. The scene in the throne room was deeply moving, one of the most impressive displays being the hourly change of crossed on reversed rifles, and with heads bowed, stand like statues at each corner of the catafalque with an officer in the same attitude beside the bier. At the end of each hour a bugler silently leads the relieving guard in, and the change of guard is made noiselessly.

Solemn services were again held in all the churches throughout the kingdom. The troops which will line the funeral route Friday have been assiduously practicing the funeral drill. Curiously, not one of these 30,000 men will see the procession pass, for when the cortege approaches, the troops will assume an attitude with heads bowed over their hands on their rifles, and will so remain until the cortege has passed.

LARGE MEETING

MANCHESTER AND NASHUA

GREEKS AID BATTLESHIP FUND.

NASHUA, May 16.—The Greek uniformed marching column from Manchester, 300 strong, attracted much attention on the street yesterday afternoon. They came to attend the meeting held in the Nashua theater, to help raise money for the battleship fund. It was proposed to present the Greek navy, Spelros Matsoukos, the orator, now touring the United States, made the chief address. He referred to the cause of Greek patriotism in a way which aroused the greatest enthusiasm. The procession was headed by the Nashua Military band, and after the Manchester contingent, came about 600 Nashua Greeks in plain clothes. When the parade reached city hall the marchers halted, and Mr. Matsoukos, pointing to the eagle on the belfry, the emblem of the country, where plain working men enjoy opportunities to earn sufficient money to purchase a battleship, said this his compatriots should not forget what they owe the United States. Three cheers were given for the eagle and the band played "America." and on the sidewalk lifted their caps. P. Karageorgoulous commanded the Manchester battalion, and A. Bakalopoulos had charge of the Nashua marchers.

STUFFING BALLOT BOX

NEW YORK, May 16.—"Stuffing a ballot box with cannons" was described today by a witness in the trial of Roswell Williams, Tammany leader of the seventeenth election district, charged with violation of the election laws at the primary last September when Williams was running against Daniel Golden for the district leadership.

Patrick Connors, a Goldenwatcher, today testified that Williams and four others drove up to the polling place in an automobile and at once proceeded to "rush" the place.

"Williams looked on," declared Connors, "while they did the work. They stuffed the ballot box with 'cannons.'"

"What is a 'cannon,' and how is it used?" asked a juror.

The witness took a sample ballot and folded it.

"They take four other ballots and fold them like this," he explained.

"Then they slip them inside the first ballot and carefully iron them down to the apparent thickness of one ballot. This package they slip into the ballot box which is afterward shaken so that the ballots fall out and scatter."

CHECKS FORGED OFFICERS CHOSEN

Slick Young Fellow Gets Money By Evening High School Alumni

A slick young man wearing a mixed suit of gray and a pleasant smile succeeded in passing at least two bogus checks in Lowell today and the police fear that his operations have been quite extensive. In the two instances that the police know of he signed the name, "O. Russell" and the checks were made on two different banks. The young man forged the name of the pastor of a Lowell church. His modus operandi is to order goods amounting to two or three dollars and present a check for about $20. Both the name of the pastor and the church appear on the check. The police say that the "winkler" is a new one in Lowell.

SUPERIOR COURT

Auto Accident Case on Trial Today

The case of Newell vs. Fitchburg & Leominster railroad, which was on trial Friday, was concluded in superior court today. Judge Fisher appeared for the plaintiff.

The next case in order was that of Catherine Holland vs. Rev. Panos Ginteres, an action of tort to recover for personal injuries alleged to have been received by being run into by an auto owned and operated by the defendant. J. J. and W. A. Hogan appeared for the plaintiff and J. J. Hennessy for the defendant.

The short list contains the following cases:

Kelther vs. Boston & Maine (two cases). Conkley & Sherman for plaintiff, Trull & Wier for defendant.

Smith vs. Cowley ex. J. G. Patton and Burke & Corbett for plaintiff and McIntire & Wilson for defendant.

Hamill vs. Lowell Gas Light Co. Messrs. Qua for the plaintiff and P. E. Dunbar for defendant.

McDermott vs. Federal Shoe company. Messrs. Qua for plaintiff and F. E. Dunbar for defendant.

The Ginteres Case

The case of Catherine Holland vs. Rev. Panos Ginteres went to trial this afternoon. Mrs. Holland testified that on the evening of April 10, 1907, she was struck by the defendant's auto in Broadway near Lagrange street and received injuries from which she never fully recovered. Before the accident she said she was able to earn $7 per week in the mill but since then has been obliged to keep out of the mill and as a result she does not earn more than $2 per week. Police Officer Dowley testified to seeing the woman immediately after the accident and picking her up. He described her condition.

Dr. James J. Leary testified that he was called to attend the plaintiff at the time of the accident. He described her external injuries and said that from the symptoms described by her she had suffered internally.

For the defense, Mr. Ginteres, Dr. Mitsakos and one other witness were called. Mr. Ginteres testified that on the night of the accident his machine collided with a pole in Broadway and that if Mrs. Holland was struck she must have been struck by the rear end when the machine rebounded.

6 O'CLOCK TWO UNDER ARREST

In Bank Swindling Case at Fitchburg

FITCHBURG, May 15.—Corbett McLane, aged 35, who gives his residence as Worcester, and a man who says he is James A. McNeil, but who the police say is James Russell, were locked up at the police station last night. McLane is booked on a charge of larceny and McNeil is held on an indictment for forgery returned last Thursday.

Both men are said by the police to have been implicated in the swindle whereby the Worcester North Savings Bank was burned out of $1700 on May 4. The third man wanted gave the name while here of George P. Sands.

McLane was brought here from Worcester by Inspector Flaherty and was taken to the police station. From what was learned from him the police placed him under arrest and charged him with larceny. McLane gave his business as an insurance agent. He is married and lives on Castle street, Worcester. He was held on default of $2500 bail.

McNeil was arrested by the Boston police. He was brought here last night and taken to the central station. No charge was preferred against him, but an indictment for forgery had been returned against him last Thursday. He was turned over to Sheriff Doherty today and will be arraigned in the superior court this week at Worcester.

It is claimed by the police that McLane, McNeil and a man who gave the name of Sands represented to officials of the Worcester North savings bank that they had purchased a piece of property valued at about $4000 from John Doherty of this city on May 4, and that upon their representation the bank gave one of the men a loan of $1700 on the property, taking a mortgage for the amount of the loan. It later developed that the bank had been swindled, as the property which the men claimed they purchased and upon which they secured a loan was found to be rightfully in the name of John Doherty.

The investigation showed that the swindlers had stolen a deed from Doherty and forged Doherty's name to it, and then placed it on record in the registry of deeds.

McLane was identified last night by Attorney Jean Robichaud as one of the three men who came to his office when the deed was signed and affidavits were taken. It is claimed that he stole the deed from Doherty. The police say McLane is the man who represented himself as John Doherty and who forged Doherty's name to the deed.

The police have a good description of the man called "Sands" and expect to get him.

The man who gives the name of McNeil is well known in the city. He worked here for the past six years as a harbor under the name of James Russell. He is 35 years old and unmarried. His home is in Boston.

State Attorney Wayman of Cook county made application to Judge McSurley to have all witnesses placed in direct custody of the court in order, it was said, to prevent any witness being taken in Springfield to testify in the "jackpot" investigation while the Browne case is on trial in this city.

HIS MONEY GONE GLOUCESTER WIFE

Man Tried to Commit Suicide Took Revolver From Insane Husband

BOSTON, May 16.—Out of funds and discouraged from failure to find employment, Jacob Apfelbaum, a native of Russia, was found unconscious yesterday in a room filled with gas in the apartment of Mrs. Rose Malick, 5 Oswego street.

Apfelbaum came to this country a few months ago from Fern in Russia, where he had followed the trade of a carpenter. For some weeks he lived with a cousin, Rouben Goren, at 75 Erie street, Dorchester, and later with the latter's brother, Solomon Goren, 40 Ross street.

He had tried his hand at various trades but failed to make any success. Possessed of a kind voice, he sought occupation with the moving picture theatres, but was handicapped by his ignorance of English.

On Saturday evening he left the Goren residence and applied for a job with Mrs. Malick. It happened that he did not sleep through the night, and yesterday morning he asked Mrs. Malick if he might sing. Receiving permission, he did so, singing a Yiddish equivalent of "Home, Sweet Home," but as the landlady described it, "he did not sing happily."

About 2 p. m. Mrs. Malick, who was sitting on the stairs of the house with her baby, smelled gas coming from her lodger's room. Alarmed, she called for help. Mrs. Elia Morris, a tenant in the same building, answered the call and opened the door of the room, which was not locked.

The room was filled with gas, while the young man was unconscious on the bed. The gas-burner was turned on. Apfelbaum was taken to the City hospital and quickly recovered.

STRANGE BEETLE IS DOING DAMAGE TO OLD TREES

BOSTON, May 16.—The cause of the destruction of many old trees, especially elms, in New England, is a strange beetle recently discovered, according to a statement by Prof. C. T. Bruns of Harvard university.

"The beetle has already destroyed many trees," said Prof. Bruns, "and might be called the 'elk-killing beetle' from the peculiar round holes with which the larvae penetrate the bark of the elms after digging a perfect mass of tunnels under the bark, often completely girdling the trees."

"The trees attacked by the beetle quickly die. I can see no hope for the New England elms and most conclude that within a few years they will have become exterminated and saved from extinction only through transplanting or seeding in other sections of the United States where the parasites which make the elm their special prey have not yet been introduced."

Many of the insects have been discovered in the stately old trees in the college yard at Cambridge.

SOCIALIST PARTY CONGRESS

CHICAGO, May 16.—The twelve women delegates to the national congress of the socialist party now in session here won a victory in the first election which came before that body yesterday.

The twelve women scored decisively when in spite of opposition on the part of the masculine element headed by Clarence Darrow, they succeeded in placing a ban on smoking during sessions of the congress. Mrs. Cora, delegate from the state of Washington, started the fight on tobacco. At the morning session she made a request that there be no smoking, but her wishes were disregarded.

In the afternoon she moved that indulgence in the weed be strictly prohibited.

Mr. Heger said he wanted to be able to smoke and suggested that on the principle of equal rights the women might also have the privilege of indulging.

A vote on the proposition showed Mrs. Cora to have carried the day and the anti-tobacco rule was put into effect.

THE COUNTY COAL EXCELLENT OBSERVATIONS MADE

Ed. Cawley Gets North Middlesex Contract

The county commissioners held their monthly meeting at the court house this morning and apparently the talk of an investigation has not ruffled their urbanity in the least.

The first business was the opening of bids for the coal supply at the Lowell jail, Lowell court house and the Middlesex training school at North Chelmsford.

Edward Cawley received the contract, his bid for the entire amount being $4755.40. The other bidders were B. A. Wilson & Co., $497.20; Horne Coal company, $5125.30; J. T. Sullivan, $5175.80. The dealers bid on each lot, and the commissioners grouped them, giving the entire contract to the dealer with the lowest total.

Selectmen King and Duffy of Tewksbury, Town Counsel Melvin G. Rogers and the Messrs. Trull appeared before the commission relative to the widening of Andrews street in Tewksbury near the North church. The commissioners granted the petition and will assess the damages later. The town representatives expressed the town's desire to the county to bear some of the expense and while that subject has not yet been discussed by the commission, the town authorities believe that the county will help out. In order to widen the road at the point named it will be necessary to move a school-house and tear down a house. The owner of the house wants $3000 for it. The road would be 70 feet wide, 70 feet of macadam road, 70 feet of gravel. The estimated cost is about $5000.

The 3rd of the school house and the Feinsteins moved to New York, and Manelli followed them there. He and Gellicie would have eloped long ago, but for the wishes of the girl's parents, who are now in the city, and her misfortune. Two weeks ago Gellicie came to Boston to stay at the home of an aunt in South Boston, with the plan that Manelli would follow and they would be married here.

The girls were determined, and said they would get married anyway. Friedman immediately went to the police, declared Gellicie was only 15 years old, and had Manelli arrested on a charge of abduction. In court Gellicie declared under oath that she was 18 years old and that opposition on the part of her parents was because of the religion of Manelli, who is a Catholic. Believing her story, the judge discharged Manelli.

GENEVA, N. Y., May 16.—Excellent observations of Halley's comet were taken this morning by Prof. Brooks, director of Smith observatory, who reported the comet's tail stretching out in a broad band across the heavens to a length of more than forty-five degrees. The nucleus, Prof. Brooks said, was very bright, being easily visible with the naked eye long after the stars, except Venus, had disappeared.

Dr. Brooks said that the comet viewed through the telescope showed the same remarkable changes in form that were noted three days ago. Its shape this morning was that of a pointed crescent with the nucleus on the extreme front and much larger than noted at any previous observation.

WEDDING IS OFF BOY WAS KILLED

Man in the Case Was Arrested Struck Dead on Top of Car

BOSTON, May 16.—Pending the arrival from New York of a warrant charging him with the abduction of the girl he wishes to marry, Joseph Manelli, 26 years old, is locked up at the Charles street jail. Behind his arrest and detention is a long, interesting story of a love affair with difficulties.

Two years ago, while still in Lithuania, Manelli became enamoured of Gellicie Feinstein, and, after a short courtship, won her heart. Soon after the Feinstein came to America and went to live in Chelsea, which was their home until the big fire.

Manelli soon followed his sweetheart and they began plans for getting married, but the parents of the prospective bride interfered.

The lovers were determined, and said they would get married anyway. Friedman immediately went to the police, declared Gellicie was only 15 years old, and had Manelli arrested on a charge of abduction. CAMBRIDGE, May 16.—George W. Coleman, former bookkeeper of the closed National City bank, who will be tried on Wednesday for the larceny of $250,000 from the bank, was arrested again today for the larceny of $350 from Frank Andrews, one of the depositors. The police state that Coleman obtained the money from Andrews on checks which were not discovered until the receiver of the bank, John L. Bates, had spent nearly two months in investigating the affairs of the institution. Coleman was released on $2000 bail pending his trial in the federal courts where it is expected, he will plead guilty and accept sentence.

Later in the day Coleman issued a statement in which he claimed that the arrest was instigated by W. J. Kellier through whom Coleman says he lost much of the bank's money trying to break a fare bank. Kellier is jointly indicted with Coleman for the shortage in the National City bank and will be tried on Wednesday.

JUDGE J. S. KEYES LUSTIG GUILTY

Well Known Concord Resident Dead Convicted of Killing His Wife

CONCORD, May 16.—Judge John S. Keyes, one of the best known and oldest residents of Concord, died yesterday in the Massachusetts general hospital, Boston, at his 89th year.

He had been in poor health more than two months, and had been under treatment in the hospital about three weeks. Although his death was not unexpected, it was a shock to the residents of this town. When word of his death was received here, shortly after 10 yesterday morning, bells throughout the town were tolled. The funeral services will be held at 4 Tuesday afternoon in the First Parish meeting house at Concord. The burial will be private.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Maurice Lustig, a former private detective, was found guilty of murder in the first degree yesterday by a jury in the court of general sessions. The defendant, who was charged with the murder of his wife, Rhoda, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Lustig died in convulsions and was then thought to have a spinal meningitis. An anonymous postal card first called the coroner's attention to the case, the life insurance companies pushed it and Mrs. Lustig's body was disinterred at Milroy, Pa., where she was buried.

The jury was out all night and reached a verdict at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

SAVINGS STOLEN COURT STARTLED

WELLESLEY, May 16.—Two servants, who were the sole occupants of apartments at Wellesley Hall, were robbed of $235 by a daring burglar early yesterday. They had heard the intruder in the upper part of the house, and their neglect to summon help cost them all their savings.

The robbery occurred in the apartments of J. W. Edmunds in "Edon Court" on Washington street. The family was absent and the house was in charge of Della Caine and Helen Glynn, the maids. Although their sleeping rooms are on the third floor of the building, the girls were in the second story when they heard footstep in the rooms overhead.

The house is a short distance from the local police headquarters and the telephone exchange, but neither girl thought of sending for help. Instead they slipped to the street floor, wrapped the family silverware in cloths and carried it to the second floor, where they hid it.

Later they thought they heard the intruder leaving the building, but they did not report the occurrence until late in the forenoon. Then it was discovered that Miss Caine's trunk had been rifled of $150, while $35 had been taken from the Glynn woman's dresser.

LATEST CAR HIT A TREE

Eleven Persons Were Injured at North Attleboro

NORTH ATTLEBORO, May 16.—An electric car on the Interstate line, which left North Attleboro for Attleboro at 7 o'clock last night, met with a serious accident in front of the residence of James Lavery. The rear truck left the rails while the car was running at a fast rate of speed and after going for a distance of 35 feet crashed into a large elm tree by the roadside. The car was badly damaged and a few of the passengers were seriously injured. The injured are:

Edward Cobb of North Attleboro, bruised.
Fred Dobra of North Attleboro, back wrenched, bruised.
Frank Rice of North Attleboro, eye cut, bruises about body.
There were others who suffered minor injuries, and nearly all of the 40 passengers were shaken up by the crash.
The car was in charge of Motorman Benjamin Benson and Conductor Robert Cahoon. It left North Attleboro with 40 passengers bound for Attleboro Falls and Attleboro. As the car was passing by the Lavery house a short distance from the center of the town the rear truck suddenly left the rails. The rear part of the car went along in a diagonal course for about 36 feet, when it crashed into a large tree. But for this tree the car would have turned turtle.
The crash broke nearly every window in the car and smashed the rear vestibule to splinters. Passengers were thrown about and a small panic was created.
Conductor Cahoon, who was standing in the rear vestibule, was thrown about 15 feet into the street, but escaped with slight injuries.

MEETING OF OWLS

Organizer Expelled and Reorganization Work Started

BOSTON, May 16.—Fully 1200 members of the order of Owls gathered at Deacon hall yesterday afternoon and discussed the question of reorganization.

Martin T. Joyce called the meeting to order. Ex-Rep. Shields of South Boston was secretary.

Communications were read from various nests throughout New England, pledging their assistance to the New England Order of Owls. Letters from Hartford, signed by the president and secretary of the Hartford nest, told of a struggle that nest had with the South Bend, Ind., organization, and asked the members of the Massachusetts nest to continue in their fight for a charter with a broad insurance feature.

The delegation from the Lowell nest said that they came informally to the meeting, but were in sympathy with the movement to charter a New England order. A representative from the Worcester nest said that nest had taken a step in advance of the Massachusetts nest, because it had a charter to do business in Worcester, but that it would join the New England order for the purpose of fraternalism.

A letter was read from Sec. Brown of Holyoke asking information about the New England order. A score or more of Cambridge men said while they did not represent their nest officially, they pledged themselves to the New England order. The John F. Ryan nest was represented by Mr. Ryan, who expressed himself as in sympathy with the New England order.

Atty. Herbert A. Kenny told of the work of the legislative committee and also the committee appointed to wait upon the district attorney.

Lawyer Kenny told of his interview with Atty. Follett, in which the latter said that he would not hesitate a moment to prosecute any officer of the Old Order of Owls, whom he was convinced had absconded with the funds of the order.

The district attorney said, however, that he must give all parties a hearing in the purpose of the order and that after the New England Order of Owls was formed on a firm foundation he would be only too pleased to join.

In further presenting the report of the committee, Atty. Kenny claimed that Representative Cavanaugh of Everett had not unfailingly followed the New England Order of Owls and that Cavanaugh should be the last man in the world to complain about politics in a social organization. He referred to the contest between Joseph C. Pelletier, now district attorney, and James F. Cavanaugh, for state deputy of the Knights of Columbus a few years ago.

That said Representative Cavanaugh was a member of the old order of the Owls and was unfair.
Fully 20 delegates, Atty. Kenny said, appeared before the general court and stated that they were strongly in favor of the charter of the Massachusetts nest in its efforts to conform to the law and get a new charter.
Col. Roger F. Scannell produced a writ showing that he had been sued for $25,000 by the home nest at South Bend. "This is somewhat of a joke," said Col. Scannell. "I have been waiting for several weeks to hear from lawyers here at last put in an appearance. This suit does not disturb me in the least."

"As far as I am concerned," he went on, "I do not surrender when the enemy is coming over the hill, but I die in the last ditch." Col. Scannell was applauded and the Massachusetts nest voted the colored a substantial sum to help him out in his fight against the home nest.

On the other motion of Dr. Peter Decham a committee was appointed to examine into the remarks by Organizer Daniel H. Sullivan. This committee reported that Organizer Sullivan should be expelled from the order for his conduct toward the Massachusetts nest of Owls, and Organizer Sullivan was expelled from the Massachusetts nest by a unanimous vote.
By a unanimous vote Michael S. Drew, chairman of the auditing committee, and Thomas Coffey were suspended.

EUROPE HAS EXHAUSTED HER SUPPLY OF RED, WHITE AND BLUE DECORATIONS

BERLIN, May 16.—Correspondents of European papers are dazed over the reception, the cheering crowds and strenuous greetings given to Colonel Roosevelt on his tour of Europe. The correspondent of the London Times writes that he has been in the midst of battles, that he has had to do some tall hustling in his newspaper days, but he has never worked so hard nor has he been kept on the move as since he joined the Roosevelt party for the Times. When Colonel Roosevelt enters London, however, much of the hurry and bustle will be lost, for then he will represent the United States at the funeral of King Edward. Europe has about exhausted her supply of red, white and blue bunting to decorate the streets in honor of the colonel.

LEGAL RESIDENCE

Meaning of Expression Explained by the City Solicitor

The following opinion asked for by the committee on teachers was handed down by City Solicitor Duncan today:

Office of City of Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass.
May 16, 1910.

Committee on Teachers,
Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen:—I have your request for an opinion as to the meaning of the expression "legal residence" as used in section 3 of chapter 44 of the Revised Laws, for the purpose of determining whether or not the children of certain individuals are entitled to attend the public schools in our city free of charge. Said section provides, in part, as follows:

"Every child shall have the right to attend the public schools in the city or town in which his parent or guardian has a legal residence."
The word "residence" as used in this section is in my opinion equivalent to the word "inhabitant." In the case of Lee vs. the City of Boston, 2 Gray, 400, the court says:

"The word 'inhabitant,' and 'resident,' 'inhabitant,' and 'residence' are commonly, though not invariably used, in the constitution and laws of this commonwealth as synonymous. There are a few passages in them where 'resident' has a somewhat broader significance than 'inhabitant,' and designates a class of persons who have no domicile within the state. . . . But all such instances, wherever they are found, are exceptions. In general these words have only one and the same significance."

Proceeding on the theory therefore that a "resident" is an "inhabitant" as indicated by the opinion of the court in this case, we come to the question of what is required to constitute a person an "inhabitant." This question is discussed in the case of Harvard college vs. Gore, 22 Pick. 377. In that case the court defines the word inhabitant as follows:

"An inhabitant, by our constitution and laws, is one who being a citizen dwells in a town, where he has municipal rights and duties, and is subject to particular burdens; and this habitation may exist or continue notwithstanding an actual residence in another town or county, provided the absence is not so long or of such a nature as to interrupt or destroy the municipal relation previously found."

Now, in applying this definition to a particular case it is necessary to consider among other things, the intention of the individual as evidenced by his own statements. If he declares that he is an inhabitant of a certain place, it is not sufficient to remain an inhabitant or resident of a certain place in which he has municipal rights and duties and is subject to certain burdens which can fall only on an inhabitant, then his stated intention if borne out by the existing circumstances, is entitled to full credence. The fact that he happens to reside for the time in another place does not control provided his right to vote, his eligibility to office and his liability to taxes have not been altered by such temporary change of residence.

In the light of the above decision, I have carefully considered the cases of two parties who were recently given a hearing before your committee and on the whole am of the opinion that these parties have established their residence in this city within the meaning of the law.

Respectfully submitted,
Win. W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

WAGE INCREASE GRANTED

IN POLICE COURT

The Session Had No Cases of Importance

Judge Hadley found awaiting his attention in police court this morning an exceedingly large number of prisoners from all parts of the globe, but outside of a few first offenders, who were assessed the customary $2, all had made previous visits to the dock.

Thomas F. Murray was charged with being drunk and he pleaded guilty. This was the third time that he had been before the court, and for the next four months he will sojourn at the Lowell jail. David M. Knox was sentenced to the state farm on a charge of being drunk three times within a year. Samuel Scott was charged with being a third offender, but there was something more coming to Samuel, for Patrolman Donnell told the court that Scott refused to work and was adjudged guilty and sentenced to the state farm.

John McGrath, Aristides Turvenne, Daniel Shea, Patrick Boyle, Peter Roudou and Simeon Sutzack and Fred Badger, succeeded in obtaining sufficient liquor yesterday to land them at the station, and they were each fined $5, which they paid.

Joseph Arcand was charged with being under the influence of liquor. He said he was not drunk, but Patrolman Dolphis Giroux testified that he was summoned to the house of the defendant at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock and the man very drunk. His wife told the court that she had been married 17 years and had to work all the time for her own support, and that during the past three weeks she had not received one cent from her husband. The defendant was given a suspended sentence consisting of a fine of $5, with the understanding that this money should be paid to the wife within a short time.

William Wallace, William King, and Andrew Spellacy, were fined $6, for being third offenders, and Dennis Harrington, for the same offence was given a year of absence to be spent at the state farm, while Frank J. McMahon will spend the next three months at the Lowell jail.

Frank Lotta pleaded not guilty to a charge of drunkenness, and he will be heard tomorrow morning.

John Burns was charged with stealing flowers to the value of 20 cents from the garden of Jonathan L. Parker, in Hildreth street. When he was asked to plead to the charge he said: "I intended to take the flowers, but I was not caught." Mr. Parker testified that for some time past he had been troubled by persons breaking down his blue trees. Patrolman Thomas Sullivan testified to seeing the defendant, and two other fellows coming out of Mr. Parker's garden Sunday morning and they dropped lilacs on the ground. The defendant was found guilty, and ordered to pay a fine of $10.

Placed on Probation
Michael F. Brady was charged with drunkenness, and assault and battery upon his wife. He pleaded guilty to both charges and after consultation with the court, the husband and wife patched up difficulties, and he was placed on probation.

Fined $2
John R. Hyland, charged with violating a city ordinance in keeping his automobile in Merrimack square, for more than 20 minutes, pleaded guilty and was fined $2, which he paid.

VIEWED KING'S BODY GRAND TRIBUTE

Col. Roosevelt Arrived in London
This Morning

LONDON, May 16.—Theodore Roosevelt, special American ambassador to the funeral of King Edward, arrived in London this morning, was received by King George at Marlborough house and later visited the throne room in Buckingham palace where the body of the late monarch is privately lying in state.

The entrance to the city of the distinguished American was a quiet one and in marked contrast with his appearance at other capitals and with what would have been made of the occasion here but for the demise of the British ruler.

It was Whit Monday holiday but despite this fact the popular crowd at Victoria station was a small one. There was no cheering but as Mr. Roosevelt alighted from the train and was escorted by American Ambassador Whiteley to the royal carriage which had been sent for him those who looked on silently lifted their hats.

The Roosevelt party which included Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt, and Kermit left Berlin at noon yesterday and reached London, Holland, last night. They continued upon the regular train to Queensborough, England, where a special train was in waiting for them and which preceded the regular express for London and arrived at the Victoria station fifteen minutes earlier than the regular train which followed at 7:45 o'clock.

The transfer to the special train was quickly made and at 8 o'clock the party proceeded for this city which was reached at 7:30 o'clock. It had been supposed that Mr. Roosevelt would arrive on the regular train and this fact may have accounted in part for the comparatively small crowd at the station.

Upon the station platform awaiting the Roosevelt party were Ambassador Whiteley, Mrs. Reid, the other members of the American embassy and their wives, all dressed in mourning. Consul General Griffiths and the staff of the consulate, Robert Wynne, former United States consul general at London; Ogden Reid, son of the ambassador and a small group of Americans. There was no music, no waving of flags or other demonstration. When greetings had been exchanged Lord Dundonald escorted the Roosevelts and Ambassador and Mrs. Reid to the royal carriages which had been placed at their disposal by the king and they were driven at once to Dorchester house, the home of the ambassador. Later, accompanied by Mr. Reid, Mr. Roosevelt in the capacity of special American ambassador visited the king at Marlborough house.

Following his reception by the monarch he was escorted to Buckingham palace and shown into the throne room where upon the catafalque reposes the body of King Edward. Mr. Roosevelt was accompanied to the palace by Mrs. Roosevelt and the members of the American embassy and their wives. The Victoria station is closely picketed and patrolled by the police. Every entrance and exit is guarded and all applicants for admission are scrutinized. This precaution is taken for the protection of all members of royalty and other official representatives who are coming here for the funeral.

To Archbishop Dentenwill at
C. M. A. C. Hall YesterdayPanic Narrowly Averted When
Floor of Hall Began to Sink
Under Weight of Twice Its
Seating Capacity

So great was the crowd that gathered at C. M. A. C. hall in Pawtucket street, Sunday afternoon, to greet Most Rev. Archbishop Dentenwill of Rome, general of the Oblates, one of the iron roses supporting the floor gave way and the floor began to sink. It was a moment of terrible suspense and that a panic did not ensue was due to quick action and calmness on the part of Janitor Henri Barry and Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I. The janitor was first to scent the danger and he whisked his rear to Fr. Ouellette. The priest calmly requested the people at the back of the hall and in the aisle to leave the hall at once. He told them that the floor was sinking, but that if everyone would leave at once

MOST REV. ARCHBISHOP DONTENWILL OF ROME,

Several hundred men fled out quietly and between 400 and 500 people remained in the hall. The capacity of the hall is between 600 and 700 and the crowd when the danger was noted numbered more than 1000.

Had the hall been five times as large it would not have been equal to the occasion, for besides the hundreds that went out when the good priest spoke the word of warning, the streets and approach to the hall were lined with persons anxious to join in the splendid demonstration of regard for the honored general of the Oblates who is at present in this city visiting the local Oblate houses.

A popular reception was improvised for him Saturday by Rev. Fr. Henri Wattele, O. M. I., the head of the parish, and a call was made for the men of the parish to come to C. M. A. C. hall Sunday afternoon and meet the distinguished visitor.

There was a splendid response to Rev. Fr. Wattele's invitation. Janitor Henri Barry saw the great crowd making its way to the hall and he quickly realized that there was danger ahead. He knew the seating capacity and he knew that it was being more than doubled. He tried to stop the rush but was unable to do so. Then he spoke to Fr. Ouellette and his word of warning was heeded.

Aside from the unrest caused by the accident the reception was a great success and a splendid tribute. Between six and seven thousand people turned out to greet Mr. Dentenwill, lining Merrimack street from the rectory to C. M. A. C. hall.

At 3 o'clock the prelate drove in an automobile from the rectory to the hall in company with Rev. Fr. Wattele and other members of the clergy, and escorted by the Garde d'Honneur, the Garde Frontenac, the Garde St. Paul and the start of the A. G. Cadets. On each side of the street, the boys and girls of the parochial schools, bearing flags, formed a long line of honor to the very door of C. M. A. C. hall. Along the way, many houses were decorated with the national colors.

At the hall the presidents of all the French-American Catholic societies were awaiting the archbishop in the reception room, to escort him to the assembly hall, where he took his place upon the stage with Rev. Fr. Wattele, Rev. Fr. Lefebvre, O. M. I., the venerable dean of the Lowell Oblates; other members of the clergy and the presidents of the organizations represented.

Rev. Fr. Wattele presented Mr. Dentenwill as the father of the Oblate family, and thanked the people for this great tribute to the head of a great order. An address to the archbishop from the men of the parish, was then read by Thomas J. Goyette, and a bouquet of 42 roses, representing the years the Oblates have been working here for St. Joseph's parish, was presented him by Captain Joseph L. Lamoureux of the Garde d'Honneur, also in the name of the men of the parish.

Address to Archbishop

The address to the archbishop was as follows:

"We could not express warmly enough the pleasure that your visit affords us. We regret only one thing, and that is: that, for lack of time, we have been unable to prepare for your grace a reception worthy of you, and more in harmony with the feelings of gratefulness, which we entertain for the reverend Oblate Fathers, of whom you are the general.

"However, the very spontaneity of this improvised reception is a sign of what we could and would have done to receive you. Since 1888 the date of their coming to us, your children, Monseigneur, have performed works which force the admiration of the whole population and justify the profound gratitude that the French Americans of Lowell feel for them.

"Out of the reverend fathers that your congregation has sent us, some have died in harness, premature victims of their zeal and devotion; others are still alive, far from us, of all we keep an undiminished remembrance. And nothing less than the virtues and true apostolic zeal of those we have now with us, and who now surround your grace, can console us for the disappearance of those who have preceded them.

"These prelates we sincerely beseech your grace to keep with us, and to increase their number. We know that the work they have to do is now beyond their strength, and edifying as may be their zeal among us, we do not before their time.

"We would not so much insist did we not appreciate the work of the Oblates among us, and we beg your grace to consider this insistence on our part as the truest proof of the love and admiration we bear you and your spiritual children."

The Archbishop's Reply

"Your pastor says that there are 30,000 French Canadians in Lowell," said Archbishop Dentenwill in his response to the address, "but I should judge from this afternoon's demonstration that they are a million, and a million, besides, with enough faith and enthusiasm for two million."

"I must congratulate you on your fine societies, which are admirably organized and gratefully prosperous. The union of Catholics in such bodies is of great help in preserving their faith, and that in the essential point, keeping the faith. Material progress is not alone sufficient. The spiritual must come first. The work of your priests is to lead you in that, in making of you men of Catholic faith and action, and the end of Catholic societies is to help the priests accomplish this."

"I say men of Catholic faith and action," for the two, Catholic faith and good citizenship, must be intimately connected. If the Catholic societies do not make better American citizens out of you, they fail in their purpose and duty. The church needs you to show that the terms 'Catholic' and 'citizen' are two which can be linked into one to its greatest honor."

The reverend speaker varied the serious part of his discourse with flashes of wit which quitted his audience. After the conclusion of his speech, he pronounced a benediction upon the whole assembly.

After the reception, a solemn benediction service was sung by the archbishop at St. Jean Baptiste church, especially for the women of the parish. He was assisted by Rev. Fr. Wattele as deacon and Rev. Fr. Brulotte as sub-deacon. The church was filled with women. Addressing them briefly before the service, the archbishop urged them above all to influence the men to come to church.

The women, who were under the direction of Dr. Caisse, sang at the service. "Veni Creator" and "Tantum Ergo" were sung, and Miss Anna Bourassa sang in a delightful manner an "O Salutaris," by Mine. Arthur J. Martel, at the organ, played with such charm, before the service. Dubois' "In Paradisum," "Te Deum," by Letondal, and "Marche Religieuse," by Tours-Calkin, and after the service the march from Meyerbeer's "Prophete."

THE ARMENIANS

LOWELL

The Armenians of Lowell held special services in St. John's Episcopal church yesterday afternoon, at which eleven infants were baptized by Rev. S. Tashtjian of Boston.

A feature of the service was the reading of a special message from the head of the Armenian church in Russia by Mr. D. Manuellian of Lowell. The writer of the message urged the people of Armenia now in America to respect all American laws, and show by such respect that they are not only good citizens, but are loyal members of the church. The importance of learning the English language was also emphasized.

At the close of the services, a number of representative Armenians discussed the question of forming a church in Lowell, and holding monthly meetings. This was believed to be feasible, and a meeting will probably be held in the near future to take the necessary steps to this end.

"MOTHERS' DAY"

At the First Baptist Church

There was a large attendance at the service appropriate to "Mothers' day" at the First Baptist church Sunday night. The service was under the auspices of the Mothers' class, of young men, 70 of whom sat in a body in the front seats of the church. All these young men and many others present wore white flowers in remembrance of the mothers departed, or pink flowers in honor of the mothers living.

Baptism of two persons by the pastor, Rev. S. W. Cummings, opened the service. The music all related to the theme of the day. A quartet of ladies sang "As One His Mother Comforteth," a mixed quartet sang "My Mother's Prayer." The whole choir of 40 voices sang "Mother's Prayer Saved Me," and Mrs. W. H. Peppit sang "Backward, Turn Backward, O Time in Flight." Mr. Cummings spoke on "Memories of Home." He spoke of the appointment of Memorial day as a day of national observance, and expressed satisfaction that a day in the month of May is coming into wide observance all over the country as Mothers' day.

The pastor's new assistant, Mr. A. S. Woodworth, was with the church yesterday and was given a cordial welcome. In the Baraca class he was greeted by 74 young men, and the attendance in the Sunday school was 64.

Rev. Mr. Cummings and Mrs. Cummings and Mr. W. W. Buzzell, president of the Baraca class, are to be in the delegation to start in a special New England train at 9:15 on Wednesday morning to attend the world's Sunday school convention in Washington, D. C., May 19-24. Rev. Dr. Blackburn is to preach next Sunday in the place of Mr. Cummings.

PATRICK LYONS QUILTS MINISTRY

Fell Into Canal in Jackson
Street

Patrick Lyons, aged 42, of Chapel street, owes his life to Michael Sweeney, night watchman at the Lowell Machine shop. Lyons fell into the canal in Jackson street last Saturday night. He took a drop of about 25 feet and landed in about two feet of water. The canal had been drawn off, but there were pools here and there and Patrick found one of the pools. Lyons was stunned by the fall and when he came to he was badly hurt. His cries were heard by Sweeney and it didn't take him long to locate Lyons. Sweeney couldn't do anything alone and he went looking for help. He found Patrickman Sheridan, Clark and Briggs and escorted them to the police station. Lyons was then unable to talk and was pulled out of the canal with ropes. He sustained a bad cut on the back of his head and was more or less bruised. He was taken to the police station, where he was booked on a charge of drunkenness.

Clergyman Says He Will
Enter Business

CHICAGO, May 16.—With a parting defense of his stand and a declaration that he would "die rather than be narrow, bigoted and unprogressive," the Rev. Donald McLaurin gave his last sermon at the Second Baptist church yesterday. He said later he was through with the ministry and would enter business. In his sermon one passage stood out strongly.

"A clergyman of today," he said, "should not be held responsible for the theology of the sixteenth century. We were bidden to grow in grace and in knowledge and I do not believe anyone has yet exhausted the supply of either. A man may have a new vision or he may have an old one from a new angle."

"I always shall be a Baptist, but I shall be a progressive one. I should rather die than become anything else."

Dr. McLaurin opposed the expulsion of Prof. George Burman Foster from the Chicago Baptist ministers' conference last year but without indicating whether he shared the universal professor's belief. He called the act of the conference a "usurpation of authority" and after an unsuccessful fight against the ruling himself withdrew.

LIFE-SAVING APPLIANCE FOR PATROL WAGONS.

Neither our police nor fire patrol is equipped with the oxygen appliance for the resuscitation of people overcome by gas or smoke. It is a safety appliance that may save life in certain emergencies such as occurred recently in Pittsburg when an unconscious man was kept alive until the hospital was reached and more effective measures taken. It might prove useful if installed on the new auto fire patrol.

BETTER STREET SIGNS NEEDED.

Since the automobile has become so common on the public highway it is more necessary to have clear and legible street signs. Anybody who passes through the streets of Lowell will notice that it is very difficult for a stranger to find his way through the city on account of the lack of proper street signs. It is a fact that perhaps not more than half the street corners even along some of the principal streets give any indication of the names of the adjoining streets. It is a very common thing to find automobile parties losing their way in passing through our city for this very reason. It is a matter that should be remedied without delay by the street department.

FOR A PARADE ROUTE.

The Chamber of Commerce in Boston is advocating a public parade route, one that will serve sufficiently for all societies that want to make a fine showing and that will at the same time permit those who do not care to join in the parade, to continue their business. The aim is to prevent a suspension of business on the principal thoroughfares during the progress of a parade that may require four or five hours to cover its route. The suggestion is very sensible, and if the parade route were settled the people would then know just where to see the procession and how to avoid it if they didn't want to see it. There will come a time when the same idea will be applicable to Lowell.

AS TO RAISING THE MAINE.

There has been a whole lot of talk about raising the bulk of the lost battleship Maine from its position in Havana harbor. The government is negotiating with Cuba at the present time for permission to raise the wreck. A good many people are of the opinion that the hulk may have gone to pieces before this time, but even so let us get the pieces. There is a sentiment in favor of raising the remains of this now historic vessel and it may as well be satisfied now as later on. We surmise that even at this late day the wreck would reveal some gruesome results of the terrible explosion by which the vessel and so many human lives were sacrificed.

SCHOOLS MUST TEACH THRIFT.

The legislature has passed a law making it compulsory to teach the subject of thrift in the public schools. This is a new branch to be added to the school curriculum. The question is, who will teach this branch, how it will be taught, when and what text books will be used? It is a subject upon which a great deal may be said and much that is of a general nature may be found in literature, such for example as Franklin's "Poor Richard" and other articles. The course of studies in the schools has already been sufficiently burdened with extraneous branches without adding any more. It would be well for the school board before adding this branch to cut out a few of the non-essentials. We believe the system of school banks conducted in some of the schools might furnish all the instruction needed on that subject.

THE THEATRICAL TRUST.

It is announced that a theatrical syndicate has been formed in New York that will prevent to a very great extent the engagement of one night stands by theatrical companies. If any syndicate undertakes to prevent freedom of contract in such matters it should be proceeded against as a trust. It is a well known fact that the best companies can seldom play more than one night in many of the cities of average size. It is only the cheap companies, those with the poor shows that can run for a week in the average city. The case is different of course with Boston, New York or the other metropolitan centres. If the city of Lowell is to be deprived of seeing good shows which can be seen only in one night stands then something should be done to remedy the evil. There is a field for independent theatres that will not be controlled by the New York syndicate.

FOR REGULAR STREETS.

The Board of Trade will render a valuable service to the city if it succeeds in securing some regularity in the streets that are to be laid out in new territory to connect with the main thoroughfares from the centre of our city. In the past the rule has been that every property owner who had land sufficient to divide up into streets cut it up not with a view to the direction of the streets or their convenience from a public standpoint, but to make the most of the land and to leave as little as possible under public streets.

The result naturally was that the streets were irregular in direction and in width and usually too narrow. In spite of this, however, the city accepted the streets and kept them in fair condition once they had been rough graded and built upon. Any plan that will abolish this absurd mode of laying out our city streets much as a crazy quilt is planned will benefit our city as a whole. If the future growth of the city is to be regular and symmetrical it will help in a great degree to atone for the opposite qualities in the streets around the centre of the city.

SEEN AND HEARD

A man who sat up Wednesday night (11) 3 o'clock to see the comet says that it is double.

You can't be sure that a man has got his cheeks and the bridge of his nose tanned by hard work in the garden. He may only have been sitting on the bleachers.

Only think how much time Mr. Rockefeller saves every year by not having any hair to brush!

The comet's tail has been scientifically studied by the astronomers and found to be full of gases, like the average stump speech.

It is very hard indeed to love your neighbor as yourself, when the old emerald-green refuses to lend you his lawnmower when you need it.

Nearly all pianos have locks, but unfortunately in the apartment houses they are very seldom used.

Another difference between the theorist and the practical man is that the practical man doesn't waste any time thinking how he can manage to make poetry pay.

"Habit is a cable! We weave a thread of it each day until it becomes so strong we are unable to break it."

"The misfortunes hardest to bear are those which never come."

"Write your name in kindness, love and mercy on the hearts of thousands you come in contact with year by year."

"Go not abroad for happiness. For, see! It is a flower that blossoms by thy door."

Bring love and justice home; and then no more 'Thou'll wonder in what dwelling joy may be."

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessing.

CHARITY
If I were a breeze of Nature's making,
Freighted with coolness and scent and dew,
I never would set the tall trees shaking,
Or blow through the meadows the summer through.
But I'd leave the green, and, for very pity,
Would lift my burden of dainty scents
And straightway fly to the crowded city
Among the heat of the tenements.
And I'd find some poor little, pale
Little child there,
Who never had known the sea or skies,
And I'd kiss her lips till I left a smile
there,
And another look in her tired eyes.
And I'd bring her the breath of the great waves breaking,
And odor of pines from the open plain Till she would forget that her brow was aching,
And lift up her poor little head again.
Now don't you think this the nicest way, dear,
For a breeze to act, beyond word or deed?
Because—there's a moral tucked away
here,
If only your eyes could find it out.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
Commencing with the matinee today, there will be a complete change of program, both of pictures and vaudeville, and another of the excellent bills being presented at the Opera House will be given. New and novel features are being constantly selected for the Opera House and the coming week's program will furnish its quota. The Ereito Bros., European gymnasts and head and hand balancers, will be seen as well as The Durands in a laughable comedy, singing and dancing sketch, "The Surprise"; Marie Camilla, singing violinist; Eva Medora, vocalist, and a fine series of the latest in the motion picture line, including a biograph picture, will complete one of the best bills of the season. Tuesday night will be amateur night as usual, and a fine line of amateur talent will be an added feature of the program. Matinees are given at the Opera House from 2 to 5 and two full shows are given at night, starting at 7 and 8.30. Prices are five and ten cents.

THEATRE VOYONS
Today the Theatre Voyons shows the real Roosevelt, who is travelling through Europe and making all nations sit up and take notice. Teddy was photographed in the jungles, but not till he got to Cairo did the photographers get a good show at him. This picture shows his strenuousness in every form and really represents the active, alert man whom the Americans love. Another picture that will make a big impression is a Puthie production of Cleopatra, elaborately staged and acted in way that will make everyone watch it from start to finish. There is also a sterling dramatic subject on the bill as well as funny comedy. The musical program is the equal of any.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
Ever on the alert for the best attractions, the management of the Academy of Music offers for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as headliners, Kelly and Adams in their great Irish comedy sketch, and Van Camp with his trained pig, which furnishes no end of laughter for everybody. The pictures have been carefully selected and the biograph will be one of the best pictures ever shown. Miss Claudia Bessette will sing new illustrated songs, and travellets of the different countries will be shown. The prices remain the same, 5 and 10 cents.

EMPIRE THEATRE
An entirely new and thoroughly good show opened at the Empire today. With all new pictures, both of a comedy and dramatic character, the bill which is being presented will appeal to patrons as one of the best of the season. The attractions are of a class as good as any heretofore shown and the management feel safe in assuring theatregoers of complete satisfaction with every number.

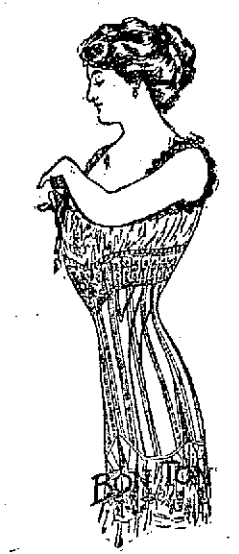

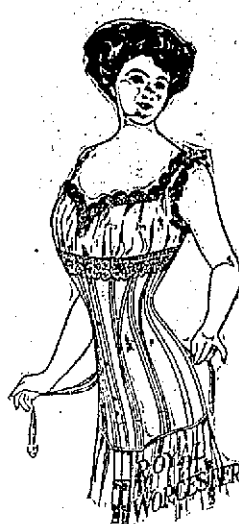

The Arizona Trio present a combination act of superb juggling and are marvelous acrobats. They are equally as good as other acts of this sort already seen at the Empire and made a great hit with the company house. Tom Bateman is the original dancing sailor. He brings with him a refreshing recollection of the sea and its frolics, introducing the dancing specialties of the sailors in a remarkably clever manner, placing the house with every effort and making a big hit. He dances some of the most difficult dances, but in that easy going way, that while it makes the dance look less difficult, yet to the people who can judge they will readily see that he is an expert.

The pictures are as good as ever with a biograph feature and comedy subjects that are the best. Mr. Charles Rogers will again render a new illustrated song and is sure to please his many friends.

STAR THEATRE
The Wolgast-Nelson fight pictures drew large crowds at the Star theatre this afternoon and those who attended declared that the pictures were the best of that kind ever exhibited in Lowell. A lecturer explained everything from the time the fighters started with their fighters in their training quarters. The arena is shown with the thousands of sports, who paid from $5 to $25 to see the contest. Before the fight starts, the promoters introduce several famous sportmen and prize fighters. When the fight started the spectators settled back in their seats to witness a reproduction of the fiercest prize fight in ring history. All eyes were alert to catch every move Wolgast and Nelson made, and everybody saw the sturdy Ad Wolgast fight and fight, never backing away from the always aggressive Nelson. "They" saw the eye-punches, neither man being willing to stall. Finally they saw the plucky and younger Wolgast outfight the oldest and gamiest, the only Battling Nelson. And many in the audience sighed with a sigh of sadness when they watched the old Nelson's gesture of protest against stopping the fight. It was the pictures they saw, but they were really enough to make one think he was at the ringside.

The attraction will be at the Star theatre for three days and it is anticipated that thousands will see the pictures Tuesday and Wednesday. It is brought to Lowell as such an early date under big expense, but Lowell sports can get a line on the two men before they clash again.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

Addressed by Rev. Dr. Keleher

HON. JOHN E. REDMOND INVITED TO LOWELL

Rev. Dr. Keleher Believes Irish Struggle Will Soon End in Triumphant Victory—Convention to Be Held in Buffalo

The United Irish league had a large attendance meeting in A. O. H. hall last evening with a very sensible address by Rev. Dr. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church.

REV. DR. KELEHER,
Pastor St. Peter's Church

dress by Rev. Dr. Keleher, pastor of St. Peter's church.

In the absence of President Bourke, Mr. E. J. Gallagher presided and during the business meeting it was announced that the biennial convention would be held in Buffalo, N. Y., in September, and that Messrs. Redmond, T. P. O'Connor and Joseph Devlin would attend to represent the Irish party. It was voted to invite Mr. Redmond to speak in Lowell during his visit to this country in September.

Rev. Dr. Keleher was very warmly greeted on being presented to the audience. In opening he referred to his recollection of the Fenian days when as a boy he witnessed the departure of military companies for the Canadian border. Those men were willing to lay down their lives for the old land in the cause of freedom as did thousands and thousands of brave men during the dark struggles of Ireland's history. Were it any other race but the Irish it would have been completely exterminated, but in the face of persecution, landlord oppression and expatriation, the people of Ireland struggled on, and when they found they could not meet the army, navy and the gold of England, the wisest friends of the cause turned to the most practical method of righting Ireland's wrongs, and what has been gained since the days of the great O'Connell bears testimony to the efficacy of that method which was never more potent than today.

"I am here tonight," said the speaker, "on account of the deep interest I feel in the cause of Ireland. Your committee has requested me to say a few words of encouragement. Under ordinary circumstances I could do so easily and with all my heart, but events have been moving so rapidly and so much in Ireland's favor that you are all familiar with the present very promising outlook."

The friends of Ireland in America have adopted the wise policy of cooperation with the leaders of the Irish people at home. It is not theirs to dictate but to help by moral and financial means.

"What with the cable bringing to us the statement of one of the most tried leaders of the Irish people, that the late King Edward was the greatest of modern monarchs and the greatest Englishman, while another great leader states that now for the first time since the English invasion can the people of Ireland sincerely lay a wreath on the bier of a dead English ruler. Whilst again we are informed that the new king is deeply touched by the resolutions of condolence adopted at every public meeting in Ireland, we are brought to realize that a vast change is taking place."

"We are told at the same time that this has produced a great effect in England, especially on the king, who at the present moment speaks more warmly of Ireland than any other country, and doubtless is inspired by the same desire as his father, to remove during his reign this weak point of imperial strength and prestige and dynastic solidity. With this comes the statement that by prudence and tact Ireland may find this one of the most propitious moments in her history."

"It seems to me that it is our province to watch, work, and wait. We can trust the tried and faithful leaders who have carried on an unparalleled struggle with such grand results for the last 30 years. My sympathy and my aid have gone out to them because they have done things, because through their united, persistent and honest efforts the condition of Ireland today is better than at any time for hundreds of years. And the prospects were never so bright, the great battle for home rule will soon end in triumphant victory."

Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., spoke at some length on the bright outlook and urged continued work for the cause through support of the parliamentary party.

The musical program included a very fine piano solo by Mr. Hamill Ryan, who won much applause by his rendition.

tion of Irish airs. Andrew A. McCarthy, the popular baritone, sang "Ireland, I Love You," and was enthusiastically cheered.

That buys the coal, did it ever occur to you that to be a successful coal man, in the full sense of the word, you must have practical experience? Let us understand one another. The money that started me in the coal business I earned myself screening, shoveling and teaming coal right here in your own city. Today my coal yard and facilities for handling coal are second to none in this city. I know what coal is, and what coal is not. I know what to buy, and what not to buy; that means my customers do not have to suffer for my mistakes. I do not tell my men, go and do it, I say, come and do it; that means you hire your own foreman in place of the coal dealer hiring him for you. PRESIDENT TAFT

Takes a Hand in the Ballinger-Pinchot Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Taft, in person, last night took a hand in the situation which has arisen concerning the "inside" history of his letter of Sept. 13, exonerating Secretary Ballinger from the charges of Special Agent L. R. Glavis and authorizing the dismissal of Glavis.

Over his own signature he addressed a long letter to Senator Knute Nelson, chairman of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, setting forth in detail the sequence of events after his receipt at Beverly on Aug. 15th last of the charges by Glavis.

The president makes no direct mention of the statement of Frederick M. Kerby, the young stenographer in Secretary Ballinger's office, published Saturday, in which Kerby said that the president's letter of exoneration was prepared in Mr. Ballinger's office by Oscar Lawler, assistant attorney general for the interior department. This explanation by Mr. Taft was obviously provoked by Kerby's statement, however.

Mr. Taft says not only that Lawler did prepare such a letter as Kerby said he did, but that he did so by the president's specific direction. When he received it, he found it was not what he wanted to issue, and he wrote the letter in the form he desired, using from Lawler's draft only one or two general statements.

The president goes still further and takes up the question of the "back-dating" of Attorney General Wickham's summary of the Glavis charges, to which Attorney Louis D. Brandeis has drawn attention. Mr. Taft says that the attorney general's letter was in fact "back dated" and that this also was done by his specific direction.

Following is the full text of the president's letter:

The President's Letter

The White House, Washington, May 15, 1910.

My Dear Senator Nelson: In the hearings before the committee to investigate the interior department and forestry service, reference has been made to my decision upon the complaint and charges of L. R. Glavis, filed with me on the 15th of August last against Secretary Ballinger and certain other officials of the interior department. The majority of the committee has decided that my action in this regard was not within the jurisdiction of the committee to investigate. In spite of this ruling references to the matter have crept into the record. For this reason I deem it proper to write you and state with such accuracy as my memory permits what the facts are.

Glavis' statement and charges were left with me by him on Aug. 15, 1908. I turned them over to the attorney general, who happened to be in the neighborhood, and he made notes upon his reading. We both had personal knowledge in respect to Secretary Ballinger's attitude toward the Alaska coal claims, which was the chief subject of innuendo and complaint, for Mr. Ballinger had very early in the administration consulted us both in regard to them.

Within two or three days after the filing of the charges, in a meeting at which the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general and the secretary of the navy were present, a full discussion of the Glavis statement was had. It resulted in a general conclusion that jealousy between the bureau of the interior department and the forestry bureau probably explained the attitude of the interior department officials, but that the intimation of bad faith by Glavis against Mr. Ballinger and the others required that the statement be submitted to them for answer. Accordingly copies of the Ballinger, to Assistant Secretary Pierce, to Commissioner Schwartz, and to Chief of Field Service Bennett, and Mr. Ballinger was at Seattle, but upon receipt of the charges he came to Washington to prepare his answer. On Monday, September 6th, Mr. Ballinger reached Beverly, accompanied by Mr. Lawler, the assistant attorney general of the department of justice.

assigned to the interior department. Mr. Ballinger sent to my house on that day the answers of the various persons concerned, together with a voluminous record of exhibits. I had a conference with him, the evening of the day he came, September 6th, and then on the following evening, September 7th, I talked over the charges with Mr. Ballinger the first evening and asked such questions as suggested themselves, without intimating any conclusion, and said that I would examine the answers and the record and would see him the next day. I sat up until 2 o'clock that night reading the answers and exhibits, so that at my next conference I was advised of the contents of the entire record and had made up my mind that there was nothing in the charges upon which Mr. Ballinger or the others accused could be found guilty of either incompetency, inefficiency, disloyalty to the interests of the government or dishonesty.

In the discussions of the second evening Mr. Lawler, who was present at my suggestion, discussed the evidence at some length. I said to Mr. Lawler that I was very anxious to write a full statement of the case and set out the reasons for my decision, but that the time for my departure on a long western trip, occupying two months, was just one week from that day; that I had six or seven set speeches to deliver at the beginning of that journey, and that I could not give the time to the preparation of such a detailed statement and opinion as I would like to render in the matter. I therefore, requested Mr. Lawler to prepare an opinion as if he were present.

During the 8th, 9th and 10th I gave such consideration to the Glavis record as was consistent with previous engagements, but paid no attention to the speeches. On the 9th I telegraphed the attorney general to come to Beverly in order that I might consult him in respect to the case. He arrived there Saturday afternoon, Sept. 11th, and, pursuant to an appointment made by telephone, he came to my house early on Sunday morning, Sept. 12th. He then delivered to me the draft opinion prepared by Mr. Lawler and said that he had had an opportunity on coming from New York to read the answers of Mr. Ballinger and others. I then said to him that I had made up my mind as to my conclusions and had drafted part of my opinion, but that I wished him to examine the full record and bring me his conclusions before I started mine. He took the whole record away.

During the day I examined the draft opinion of Mr. Lawler, but its thirty pages did not state the case in the way in which I wished it stated. It contained references to the evidence which were useful, but its criticism of Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Glavis I did not think I proper or wise to adopt. I only used a few paragraphs from it containing merely general statements.

The attorney general returned in the evening with notes of the examination which he had made, and reported to me the conclusions which he had reached, which were in substantial accord with my own. We then discussed the matter at some length, particularly from points of law which I had not finished and made a number of alterations and as a result of that discussion I determined the final form which I employed and signed the same on Monday, Sept. 13th.

The conclusions which I reached were based upon my reading of the record and were fortified by the oral analysis of the evidence and the conclusions which the attorney general gave me, using the notes which he made during his reading of the record. I am very sorry not to be able to embody this analysis in my opinion, but time did not permit. I therefore directed him to embody in a written statement such analysis and conclusions as he had given me, file it with the record and date it prior to the date of my opinion, so as to show that my decision was fortified by his summary of the evidence and his conclusions therefrom.

Sincerely yours,

William H. Taft.

Hon. Knute Nelson, Chairman, Committee to Investigate the Interior Department and Forestry Service, United States Senate.

TRADE WITH THE PHILIPPINES

Trade of the United States with the Philippines during the first 5 months of the new tariff law, which permits interchange of practically all articles free of duty, shows a marked improvement. The total value of exports to the Philippines during the period from August 1, 1909, to March 31, 1910, of which period all but the first five days of August was under the new tariff law, amounted to $1,125 million dollars, against 7 million in the corresponding period of the preceding year, and the imports from the Philippines in the same period amounted to 12 1/2 million dollars, against 6 1/2 million in the corresponding months of last year. The imports from these islands have practically doubled as the exports thereto increased about 61 per cent, when compared with the corresponding period of last year.

The growth in imports chiefly in sugar, cigars, fruits and nuts, manila hemp and other fibers, hats of straw or similar fiber, handkerchiefs, manufactures of silk, manufactures of wool, and manufactures of fibers. On the export side the increase occurs chiefly in manufactures of cotton, especially cotton cloth, manufactures of iron and steel, manufactures of leather, manufactures of wool, manufactures of wood, automobiles, chemicals, cordage, electrical appliances, electrical wire, steel rails, firearms, iron sheets and plates, boats and shoes, harness and saddles, paints, paper and manufactures thereof, soap, wines, distilled spirits, flour, meat and dairy products, canned salmon, leaf tobacco, pig tobacco, lumber and furniture.

THE DAY NURSERY

Fair Closed With Dancing Party

The closing day of the Day Nursery festival was as successful as those that preceded, insuring a good financial result. The entertainment in the afternoon, which included a Punch and Judy show given by Mr. Galloway, drew large numbers of children, who literally captured the hall, and had the time of their lives. Another enjoyable feature of the entertainment was fancy dancing by the pupils of Miss L. Blanche Perrin. The numbers were as follows:

Poppy dance, Stella Maloney, Alice Gilligan, Anna McCashin; the butterfly, Ruth R. Fenwick; niggerheads, Earl Ireland and Douglas Walker; Pierrot dance, Anna McCashin and Stella Maloney; Lotus dance, Stella Maloney.

A very pretty dance was the minuet by Alice Gilligan and little Miss Story, pupils of Miss Perrin.

General dancing in the evening closed the festival.

The managers are much indebted to Miss Perrin and to Mr. F. O. Blunt, who directed the dancing and the music in the evening. The floral arches, which contributed so much to the beauty of the stage setting were planned and executed under the direction of Mrs. Julian Talbot.

Among those who did much toward the success of the fair by their work in assisting at the apron table were Mrs. Henry L. Bourke, Mrs. Edward D. Kerwin, Mrs. William P. Barry, Mrs. George M. Harrigan, Mrs. Richard Donoghue, Mrs. Frank Donoghue, Mrs. F. McDermott, Miss Alice Murphy and Miss Rose Dowd.

Daniel F. Carroll was another who was one of the leading factors in the success of this most successful event. During the preparation for the event, and during the fair itself, he worked unceasingly many hours a day for its success, a fact highly appreciated by the committee in charge.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

TO LIEUT. ALBERT JEAN OF GARDE D'HONNEUR

The members of Garde d'Honneur pleasantly surprised their senior second lieutenant, Albert E. Jean, at C. M. A. C. hall yesterday afternoon, presenting him a chest of silver, knives, forks and spoons. Lieut. Jean is to be married Wednesday and hence the gift. Capt. Joseph Lamoureux presented the gift, which was an unusually handsome one, besides a genuine surprise for Mr. Jean. The presentation was made in the name of the military commission of the C. M. A. C., as well as in that of the Garde d'Honneur.

After Mr. Jean had expressed his pleasure and gratefulness, there was an inspection of the guard by the military commission, and seven medals were awarded to members for a clean state of attendance during the year. The winners were Sergeants Emile Borgeleau and Louis St. Jean, Corporals Joseph Soudard, Abraham Masson and Arthur Laisier, and Privates Joseph Barry and Wm. Lussier. Rev. Fr. Watelle, O. M. I., Rev. Fr. Desnoes, O. M. I., of Tewksbury, and Rev. Fr. Ouellette, O. M. I., were present and made remarks.

"JIM" JEFFRIES

Watched by a Great Crowd While Training

BEN LOMOND, Cal., May 16.—The crowd that journeyed here from Frisco yesterday to see Jeff in his announced public Sabbath workout learned that the former champion is an exceedingly timid man.

All his years in the ring have not worn off the shyness Jeff early evinced when called on to perform in public. Before the big fellow showed up in the gymnasium yesterday one of his camp companions remarked: "Jeff would give a hundred dollars if he could get out of facing the crowd this afternoon."

And the truth of the assertion was attested by the fighter's subsequent behavior. When he began skipping the rope he kept his face to the wall and his back to the spectators, and when he started his shadow boxing he stood in a corner as far removed from curious eyes as possible.

THE REFEREE QUESTION

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—When representatives of the rival fight camps assemble here tomorrow for the settlement of the question of a referee they will face what is regarded as a delicate situation. The controversy over the third man in the ring seems to be as far from settlement as ever, and as a result Promoters Rickard and Gleason express much concern over the outcome of today's proceedings.

HALLEY'S COMET

Astronomers Planning for Its Passage

BOSTON, May 16.—Halley's comet will be greeted Wednesday, on its closest approach to the earth, by a brilliant array of telescopes, flanked by rapid lenses in the astronomers' cameras. The observers are prepared for the phenomenon, and elaborate calculations have been made as to the minute and second the comet will be at a given place in the heavens.

Among the scientists there is some difference of opinion as to the effect the comet will have upon the earth, but the differences are minor. A shower of meteorites is expected by some and others, apparently in the majority, expect no disturbances at all.

The comet has monopolized all celestial attentions of late, but when it approaches nearest the earth on May 18, the moon will be full, and the moon's rays will make observations of the comet difficult. The heavenly visitor will increase in apparent size and brilliancy until Wednesday, when it will begin to decrease and in a few weeks will disappear into space for nearly a century.

Prof. Wilson of Harvard college says: "There may be a shower of charged particles, very small and numerous which may affect wireless telegraphy. There is no cause for alarm or fear. Cyanogen exists only near the comet's head and the tail is a good vacuum."

Prof. Todd of Amherst has declared that there will be no more sensation than that caused by the rays of light from a distant candle on a person's hand. There is an equal amount of cyanogen gas radiated from each proportionately, he says. Leon Campbell, another of the Harvard astronomers, thinks a luminous display probable.

At Harvard university yesterday the body, with a coma or envelope was estimated to have reached zero magnitude nearly the highest stage of stellar brilliancy. The rates of increase in fiery development is indicated by two photometric measurements taken, the first, on May 6, showing the nucleus to be of 7.06 magnitude, and another on Friday, just a week later, showing the magnitude to be 4.11.

CHOIR FESTIVAL

THE TICKETS ARE BEING QUICKLY DISPOSED OF

Those who wish to secure tickets for the choir festival on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 17 and 18, are advised to do so as soon as possible, as the demand is steadily increasing, and no more than the hall will comfortably accommodate will be sold. They may be obtained at O'Sullivan's, the Lowell Pharmacy, Dows, Judd's, Carter & Sherburne's, the T. M. G. A. and the Y. W. C. A. There are over twenty churches and nine nationalities to assist in the great choir festival which opens tomorrow night in Associate hall.
